By RELMAN MORIN
CHICAGO—(AP)—The Democrats are streaming into Chicago today to nominate a presidential candidate in a convention they forecast will be rough, rugged and wide open.

They open full sessions next Monday.

Before then, they hope a large and perplexing question will be settled—what will Adlai Stevenson do, and what will the convention do about Stevenson? The long shadow of the governor of Illinois hangs heavily over the whole party right now.

Draft Still Possible

For months, his name has been bandied about as the possible Democratic candidate. He is reported to be—or to have been—President Truman's personal choice for that role.

Stevenson repeatedly has insisted he doesn't want it, and that all he does want is another term in the governor's office in Springfield.

Yesterday, at Camp Ripley, Minn., he told a Minnesota delegate to the Democratic national convention: "no politician can say he would refuse a draft."

In Washington, Senator Richard Nixon, the Republican vice presidential nominee, told a reporter that Stevenson is the strongest possible Democratic candidate.

But until the probability of a draft action by the convention has been settled finally, he will continue to be the great x-factor in the Democratic equation.

Meanwhile the avowed and announced candidates are due here within the next few days.

Kefauver Aide Arrives

They are Senators Estes Kefauver of Tennessee, Richard B. Russell of Georgia, Robert Kerr of Oklahoma, Brien McMahon of Connecticut, Vice President Alben Barkley, and W. Averell Harriman of New York, director of the Mutual Security Administration.

Kefauver's campaign manager, Gael Sullivan, took up the question of a draft yesterday and said he saw little possibility of one. "A draft would imply the bankruptcy of the party," Sullivan said. "We have a lot of fine candidates."

Sullivan was one of the first of the principal Democratic figures to arrive in Chicago.

The backers of Sen. Russell were a few hours earlier, and they were quick to seize the advantage. They set up headquarters, called a news conference Sunday after-

Stevenson Best Democrat Hope, Nixon Believes

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The Republican vice presidential nominee thinks the strongest man the Democrats can name to head their presidential ticket is Gov. Adlai Stevenson of Illinois.

Sen. Richard M. Nixon of California, who has a vital personal interest in Democratic candidates because he will have to campaign against them from now until November, expressed his views to a reporter while flying here from Chicago.

Can't Win Anyway

However, he told a Newsmen who met his plane that no matter whom they name, "they cannot nominate anybody who can beat our candidate."

Stevenson has said he is interested only in running again for governor, but has not said flatly he would turn down the nomination if it is offered him.

Nixon plans to clean up his desk at the Senate this week, and then take a brief seashore vacation with his wife and two daughters.

His first major job, he said, would be to make a thorough study of Dwight D. Eisenhower's views on major issues.

Ready To Pitch In

The youthful candidate said he was "generally familiar" with what the GOP presidential candidate believes in, but wants to familiarize himself thoroughly with "everything the General has said" so his own campaign could be conducted in complete harmony.

Nixon said he expects to confer with Eisenhower soon to talk over campaign strategy and other matters.

Russell And Kerr Not Acceptable To CIO, Says Reuther

DETROIT—(AP)—The possibility of Gov. Adlai Stevenson of Illinois becoming an active candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination appeared closer today to some Michigan politicians.

The reason: Stevenson conferred for three hours at the executive mansion in Springfield, Ill., Saturday with Walter P. Reuther, president of the CIO United Auto Workers, who has been feeling out sentiment of candidates.

Reuther previously has conferred with Averell Harriman and Senator Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.), both avowed candidates. He has ruled out Senators Russell (D-Ga.) and Kerr (D-Okla.) as unacceptable to labor and says he will not talk with them.

Piano Stylist Levant Ordered To Take Rest

BEVERLY HILLS—(AP)—Oscar Levant, 45, pianist and composer, has been ordered to bed for a long rest after an exhausting concert tour of the East.

His wife, Mrs. Florence R. Levant, said yesterday that he has cancelled a concert appearance Tuesday in Milwaukee and a featured appearance at a Hollywood Bowl concert, July 26.

Levant is noted for his impressions of George Gershwin's work, especially "Rhapsody in Blue" and "Concerto in F."

Mrs. Levant said her husband returned Wednesday from a concert tour of New York, Philadelphia and Connecticut. She said record heat waves in the East aggravated her husband's condition.

Young Couple Drowns As Their Baby Sleeps

BERKLEY SPRINGS, W. Va.—(AP)—A young married couple drowned yesterday in the Cacapon River while their two-month-old daughter slept on the beach under care of the wife's parents.

The victims, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Tuax, were on a family picnic. Survivors said the pair stopped into a drop-off and that attempts to rescue them failed.

Eisenhower Vacations In Denver; Seeks New Campaign Manager

By MARVIN ARROWSMITH
CHICAGO — (AP)—Dwight D. Eisenhower, the Republican presidential nominee, searched today for a new campaign manager after reluctantly letting Sen. Henry Cabot Lodge of Massachusetts step aside.

The General also made ready to leave by plane tonight (7 p. m., EST) for Denver and a vacation. He and Mrs. Eisenhower were slated to take off after arrival of their son, Maj. John D. Eisenhower, and his wife from Highland Falls, N. Y.

Son Goes To Korea

It will be a farewell visit with John, who is leaving soon for Korea.

Lodge's retirement from active direction of the General's campaign had been expected. Eisenhower said he agreed to the move "only because I attach the greatest importance to his re-election to the Senate."

The General said in a statement last night that Lodge—who successfully directed Eisenhower's bid for the GOP nomination—had informed him he wants to devote as much time as possible to the Senate contest in the Bay State, where Rep. John Kennedy, election personnel, registration books and other facilities.

Outcome Not Binding

Although the outcome of the primaries would not necessarily bind convention delegates, Douglas and Bennett said they probably would exert a "strong persuasive influence" on their decisions.

Such a change would not require a constitutional amendment, and could be voted into law by Congress.

Smathers, on the other hand, proposed a constitutional amendment that would replace the convention system entirely with direct primaries.

The reform recommended in today's petition apparently refers to the Douglas-Bennett plan.

Congressmen Urge Party Primary Law To Pick Presidents

By JOHN CHADWICK
WASHINGTON — (AP) — Fifty-three Democratic congressmen today urged a plank in their party's platform calling for a law to require that all political parties hold nationwide presidential primaries.

The recommendation that the people be given more of a say in the nomination of candidates was made by both Senators and House members.

Legislation proposing such a change was introduced this year, but Congress did not act on it.

Candidates Back Proposal

Among those recommending such a plank in the party platform were Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee, a candidate for the party's presidential nomination, and the campaign managers of three other "ates"—Vice President Alben W. Barkley, Sen. Richard B. Russell and Mutual Security Administrator Averell Harriman.

The proposal was made in a petition to the platform committee.

In a statement announcing this, Sens. Douglas (D-Ill.) and Smathers (D-Fla.) and Rep. Bennett (D-Fla.) said "disgraceful events" disclosed at the Republican national convention last week emphasized the need for changing the method of picking presidential candidates.

Under the plan offered by Douglas and Bennett, the attorney general would be directed to work out agreements with states to conduct presidential preferential primaries, with the federal government sharing the cost.

The government would pay states up to 20 cents for each vote cast. The states would provide

Truce Deadlock Climax Hinted

MUNSAN, Korea — (AP) — Secret Korean armistice talks were recessed today at Communist request, raising speculation that the deadlock over prisoner exchange was nearing a climax.

The Red request for a two-day recess was made 2½ hours before the truce delegates were to meet at Panmunjom for their 11th consecutive secret session.

No reason for the recess was announced.

The communists last asked for a recess July 2 after listening to a lengthy review of the U. N. command position. The next day the Reds proposed a new plan for settling the prisoner controversy and asked that it be discussed in the secret sessions which began July 4.

The full truce delegations will meet again at 11 a. m. Wednesday (7 p. m. Tuesday EST).

Allies Bombard Reds In Korea

By GEORGE MCARTHUR
SEOUL, Korea — (AP)—United Nations warplanes unleashed withering assaults on Communist front-line positions today in one of the heaviest close-support days in weeks.

U. S. Sabre jets probably destroyed one Russian-built MIG-15 and damaged another, the air force said, in MIG ally duels.

Air Force and Marine fighter-bombers swept low over the hills and bombed, rocketed and strafed Red positions near Yonchon, Pyongyang, Kumsong, the pancheon and the east coast.

Other air force fighter-bombers, with planes from the Marines, Australians and Republic of Korea, hit supply areas behind the front.

The air force said the strike bubbled 66 troop and supply bunkers, levelled 28 gun positions and destroyed one self-propelled gun, four mortars and one vehicle and inflicted at least 23 casualties on Red troops.

In the aerial battles, two Sabre jets of a flight of the Fourth fighter-interceptor wing were jumped by six MIGs over Sinuiju and a 26-plane Sabre flight of the 51st wing tangled with eight MIGs

Weekend Talks At Pittsburgh Run Into Snag

By WILLIAM G. SMOCK
PITTSBURGH—(AP)—A spokesman for the CIO United Steelworkers reported today striking USW leaders regard the steel industry's new peace offer as unsatisfactory.

Company executives tossed the 43-day old walkout into the union's lap over the weekend by saying they had made suggestions for ending the work stoppage and were waiting for the union's answer.

No formal answer has been forthcoming. But a union source declared:

"I think it's obvious what our reaction is—unsatisfied."

Rejection Predicted

The union declined to confirm reports Murray is debating summoning his wage-policy committee here about Thursday or Friday to make the formal decision against accepting the undisclosed company offers.

The latest negotiations hit a snag after industry reportedly proposed a watered-down version of the union shop (compulsory union membership) and other undisclosed suggestions for ending the defense economy crippling strike.

An industry statement said:

"Those suggestions are still under consideration by the union. There are no definite arrangements for further meetings."

Price Increase Pending

Top steel executives left this steel capital yesterday after an apparently fruitless meeting with Philip Murray, head of the 650,000 member Steelworkers Union.

Murray had nothing to say about the industry statement. The last word from the silver-tongued union chieftain was that future negotiations are "contingent upon developments." He did not elaborate.

U. S. Steel Corp., bellwether of the industry, asked the government for a steel-price increase Saturday. This immediately set off the weekend talks between Murray and the industry.

This is the crux of the dispute: Murray wants a union shop. Industry is willing to go along on a modified plan if the government grants a price increase.

The union shop in its conventional form, requires all work-

Air Watch Over U. S. A. Needs 500,000 Civilians

By JERRY T. BAULCH
WASHINGTON—(AP)—Civilian eyes and ears today plugged the gaps in America's radar screen in a round-the-clock sky watch to guard the United States from sneak air attacks.

More than 15,000 volunteers began going on shifts at about 6,000 stations in 27 states stretched across the northern rim of the country. But the Air Force said it urgently needs another 350,000 civilians to do the job properly.

Preparedness Stressed

President Truman backed up the air watcher recruiting drive during the weekend with the statement that every citizen who cooperates "is helping to prevent the war none of us wants to happen."

The president said it was a common sense precaution "in this new age in which hostile forces are known to possess long-range bombers and atomic weapons."

Pointing out that every possible second of warning before an attack would save lives and vital facilities, Truman said:

"We cannot risk being caught

EVICTED FROM LAPEER FARM—Screaming, kicking, Mrs. Elizabeth Stevens, 60, is shown being held by two sheriff's deputies after being dragged from her Lapeer, Mich., farm home. Today there was an indication that the property, sold at auction to satisfy an unpaid insurance association levy, would be bought by an unidentified Detroit and restored to Mrs. Stevens. ## End Foreseen Today In Lapeer County's Farm Eviction Fight

LAPEER, Mich. — (AP)—Circuit Judge James E. O'Neill of Saginaw told Governor Williams today that no action could be assured for 60 days on a petition for a grand jury investigation of the Lapeer Farmers Mutual Fire Insurance Association.

Williams urged Judge O'Neill Saturday to decide on whether to call the grand jury promptly so that tension could be relieved among former Lapeer association stockholders who have been resisting the eviction of two of their number from their farm homes.

Deputies Removed

Judge O'Neill wired Williams this morning that he had given the governor's request consideration but that "no conclusion can be assured in this matter within 60 days."

Williams made his appeal after the Lapeer county sheriff, backed by state police evicted Mrs. Elizabeth Stevens from her Lapeer county farm.

As angry farmers maintained a wary weekend truce, Sheriff Clark Gregory withdrew his deputies.

Peninsula Vital Air Watch Link

LANSING — (AP) — Michigan's ground observer corps is only at about half of the recommended strength, according to Col. Edward Gillette, deputy director of civil defense.

"We're having trouble getting interested people in volunteering for air watcher jobs," Gillette said. "We have about 10,000 volunteers now but we need 18,750 to man all our posts on a 24-hour basis."

Gillette said Michigan has 750 posts. At full strength each post should have 25 spotters for round-the-clock protection, he said.

Col. Gillette said posts in the Upper Peninsula are particularly important because watchers there would spot any enemy planes coming from a northerly direction.

"We've had trouble getting recruits there because of the sparse population," he said.

All Lower Peninsula posts except those in Cass, St. Joseph and Berrien counties report to the filter center at Grand Rapids. Those three counties report to South Bend, Ind. The Upper Peninsula reports to Green Bay, Wis.

Highway Accidents Kill 11 In Michigan

(By The Associated Press)

Eleven persons, including a Genesee Motors vice-president and his wife, died in weekend traffic mishaps in Michigan. Drownings claimed another six lives.

Two men hobnobbing atop a freight train were killed near Niles. A low bridge crushed their skulls as the train sped under it.

Beautifully sunny, although hot, weather drew thousands to the highways, beaches and fishing grounds.

Summerfield Will Get GOP Tribute At Harmony Dinner

DETROIT — (AP) — Prior to the opening of the Michigan Republican convention at Grand Rapids Aug. 16 a harmony dinner will be held for Arthur E. Summerfield, of Flint, the GOP National Committee's new chairman.

The plans for the dinner were disclosed here yesterday after the resolution adopted by the Michigan delegates to the recent national convention in Chicago.

The dinner will be a tribute from the delegates to Summerfield for the manner in which he conducted the state delegation during the convention.

New York Gets Ready To Greet Atlantic Queen

ABOARD THE S. S. UNITED STATE AT SEA — (AP)—The new first lady of American shipping, the liner United States, poured on the steam today and raced for a new star in her speed crown.

On the homeward stretch of her maiden round-trip Atlantic crossing, the 53,000-ton American pride looked certain to break the Queen Mary's 14-year record for the Europe-to-America crossing early tonight.

Slowed By Fog

The big new U. S. liner on her trip to Europe had cracked the Queen's west-to-east mark. Leaving New York on July 4, the United States made the 2,938-mile crossing in three days, 10 hours and 40 minutes, averaging 35.59 knots.

The American ship was not expected to better this time on the return voyage. For one thing, fog slowed her yesterday to a speed of 33.95 knots. But she appeared certain to reach Ambrose light, off New York, late this afternoon—well ahead of the Queen Mary's 1938 east-to-west record of three days, 21 hours and 45 minutes.

Anchors Tonight

Already, on her trip home, the United States had racked up still another record—the longest day's run ever made by a commercial ship. In the 25-hour period ending Saturday she covered 902 nautical miles, an average speed of 36.08 knots.

New York readied the "most colorful and elaborate" welcome in the port's history for the new American Sea Queen, her skipper Commodore Harry Manning and his proud crew. Manning already had announced that he would anchor in the harbor tonight and bring his 1,650 excited passengers into dock at 9 a. m. tomorrow.

Democrats Stick To Gov. Williams

DETROIT — (AP) — A caucus of Michigan's Democratic National Convention delegates at Lansing tomorrow will steer clear of choosing a "second ballot" candidate.

The state's 40 convention votes are pledged to Gov. Williams for the first ballot. Williams is a "favorite son" candidate.

Democratic State Chairman Neil Staebler said that delegates will meet for the sole purpose of going over convention procedure. Michigan will send 68 delegates and a like number of alternates to the Chicago convention which gets under way July 21.

The Lansing caucus will steer clear of the candidate question, Staebler said. He did say, however, that he believed the most likely candidates to get Michigan support on the second ballot would be one of three men, Gov. Adlai Stevenson of Illinois, Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee, or Averell Harriman.

Delegates will be chosen at the meeting to serve on the various convention committees, Staebler added.

Too Much Bang

DETROIT — (AP)—Three boys, dissatisfied with the little bang in their firecrackers, poured the explosive powder into a tin can and lit it. They got a bang that left Donald Haist, 16, of Fraser with severe throat lacerations and Henry Schelling, 14, of Jackson, with bad face cuts. John Harms, 17, suffered cuts and burns.

Lead Found In Tea Room Case

A development in the burglary in Rich's Tea Room last Tuesday was reported this morning by safety director Glen S. Leonard after police recovered two of the stolen cigarette lighters from one of three juveniles apprehended after another breaking and entering early this morning.

The lighters were found this morning on the person of a minor involved in the theft of two watermelons from the Rustic Market on Ludington Street about 4:30 today.

The youth claimed that he found the lighters, Leonard reported, denying his participation in the breaking and entering of the refreshments shop.

Two other boys were questioned today in relation to the Rustic Market entering. The juveniles were brought into the police station after one of the boys was seized in a chase near the Market premises by proprietor Gilbert Heyboer. The boy named the other two juveniles involved, one who participated in the raid and another who knew of the plans.

Police reported that the enclosing wire of the open market was cut to reach the watermelons.

Navy Lays Keel Of Giant Carrier

By ELTON C. FAY

NEWPORT NEWS, Va.—(AP)—

The Navy today laid the keel of a giant aircraft carrier whose range and planes can bring within reach the "innermost lairs" of any aggressor nation.

Deputy Secretary of Defense William C. Foster described this as one of the capabilities of the 60,000-ton carrier Forrestal, to be the biggest warship of the world's navies when completed.

Behind his words in an address at the keel-laying ceremony was the fact the ultra-modern, flush-deck carrier is designed to launch and recover atom-bomb carrying planes and heavy, swift jet fighters to provide for its own protection against enemy attack.

The ship, first of two of the class which Congress so far has authorized the navy to build, will cost an estimated 218 million dollars, excluding cost of the 100 or more planes of the carrier.

At normal construction rate, the Forrestal will be ready to join fleet in late 1954. In an emergency building can be speeded up. The Forrestal is being constructed by the Newport News Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Company, builder of the passenger liner United States which set a trans-Atlantic speed record on her maiden trip to Europe.

New, long range bombers are known to be planned or in actual construction for use on the Forrestal.

The Forrestal will grow into a carrier of these dimensions and appearance:

A flight deck 1,040 feet long, 252 feet wide. An "island" structure which can be retracted to provide an unobstructed flight deck.

A speed probably above the 33 knots rated speed for the present largest aircraft carrier, the 45,000-ton Midway.

A bow completely enclosed up to the flight deck, to thrust aside the biggest waves.

Television to give the crew "eyes" for steering and navigating the ship when the bridge is retracted during landing operations.

Extensive compartmentation of the hull to keep the ship afloat even though hit below the waterline by a number of torpedoes.

Valuable Cocker Spaniel Held For Claim By Owner

City police are holding an impounded dog, apparently a thoroughbred cocker spaniel, for recovery by the owner before the animal is destroyed as a stray.

The dog, a small brown and white male cocker about 1½ years old, was picked up Friday in the 200 block of North 12th Street. Police are keeping the dog slightly longer than the customary period so that the owner may claim it.

Of two other dogs impounded Friday at the same location one has been claimed by the owner on payment of costs and the other will be executed.

Nahma To Hold History Picnic

NAHMA—Plans for the Delta County Historical Society picnic to be held in Nahma early in September were discussed at a meeting of the society officers and a temporary Nahma committee here last week.

Atty. William Anderson and Frank Bender Jr., of Escanaba, officers of the society, reviewed briefly the purposes and objectives of the Delta County Historical Society. It has been the practice of the society to hold a picnic each year in a different community with a view toward collecting historical facts concerning the area.

Nahma citizens will be asked to prepare papers of various historical aspects of the community to be read by them at the picnic. The topics will include: History of early sawmills and the lumbering operations of the Bay de Noquet Company, churches and community organizations, fires and tragedies, railroads, Indian trails, roads, bridges, boats and other forms of early transportation, early log drives, schools, Indians, pioneer families, local government, commercial fishing and lumberjack lore.

It is also planned to hold an exhibit of old pictures, official records, letters, papers and relics at the picnic.

Tentative plans call for a basket lunch at noon, to be followed by a picnic.

Heavy Rainfall Past Four Days

Yesterday afternoon's drenching downpour capped a four-day wet spell in which over two inches of rain spilled over the Escanaba area.

The Escanaba weather bureau reported this morning that .86 of an inch of rain fell here yesterday afternoon. The heavy rainfall began last week on Thursday and Friday, with 1.32 inches falling those two days. A total of 2.28 inches have fallen since Thursday.

Even that heavy rainfall fails to come up to last year's peak downpour during the months of June and July. In June last year we had 3.47 inches as a starter and Jupiter Pluvius really opened up with 9.93 inches in July.

Last month's total of 2.69 failed to equal the same period in 1951 by more than an inch. And thus far this month we have had 3.68 inches.

Savings Bond Sales Pick Up

By CHARLES MOLONY

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Savings bond buying has picked up since the government put its higher-interest bond on sale May 1. But new purchases haven't yet caught up with total cash-ins.

Treasury officials reported today people bought $543,100,000 worth of the new-type E bond and its brand new companion, the H bond, during May and June.

In the same months last year, purchases of the old type E bond—which automatically gets the same, more attractive rates as the new type—came to $490,800,000.

Not Printed Yet

Officials expressed optimism that sales will increase even more as people become familiar with the new bond's greater attractions and when the printer delivers the new issue for actual delivery to buyers in a few days.

So far, buyers have been given "interim receipts" and assurance they'll be able to turn them in for the new issue when the printer comes through.

The $543,100,000 in May and June purchases of E and H bonds compares with total E-bond cash-ins of $690,700,000 for those months. However, this was less than the 680 million dollars in May and June, 1951. Taking pre-mature cash-ins alone, the 1952 total was only $551,900,000 against $629,100,000 in 1951.

The new E bond bears 3 per cent interest when held for nine and two thirds years. The old one bore 2.9 per cent when held to its full term of 10 years—or did before the new bond's features were applied automatically to the old ones.

Paid By Check

The H bond went on sale for the first time last month. Where interest earned by an E bond each six months simply accumulates and is added to the value of the bond when cashed in, the interest earned by an H bond each six months is paid to the owner by check, and the bond's value stays the same.

There's another difference: E bonds still sell for as little as $18.75 for a bond that will be

Mary Flath, 44, a passenger in the car driven by her husband Ralph, 42, of Mt. Pocono, Pa., sustained a bruised neck in a collision with a car driven by Paul Collins, 51, Gladstone, on U. S. 2-41 near the Escanaba River bridge Sunday at 12:30 p. m.

State police reported that Collins hit the back end of the Flath car as Flath slowed down suddenly. Mrs. Flath was self treated; no one else was hurt.

worth $25 on maturity; the smallest size H bond is $500.

The old E bonds began maturing in May, 1951, 10 years after they were first put on sale. The treasury will pay owners 3 per cent interest to keep them for 10 years beyond maturity.

Officials said that in the 14 months since May, 1941, a total of $2,900,000,000 worth of them have matured, but fewer than a fourth 731 million dollars worth—have been cashed.

Bridge Mishap Injures Youth

James Cashin, 17, of 509 S. 15th St. was in St. Francis Hospital this morning with possible fractured ribs and collarbone after an accident yesterday in which his car ran into the side of the old Ford River bridge.

X-rays were taken this morning to determine the extent of the injury received when the car he was driving slid off the planking which forms the wheel path on the bridge and struck an upright steel beam of the structure.

X-rays showed late this morning that Cashin sustained only chest injuries. There was no indication of fractured bones.

Passengers in the car were Daniel Marsieck, 404 S. 15th St., who received a slight bump on the head and Robert Bergeon, 608 S. 8th St., who was uninjured.

Investigating officials of the sheriff's department reported that the car straddled the raised parallel plankings with both front wheels of the southbound car off the left side of the tire path and the rear wheels off the right side.

Damage was caused to the bridge beam and to the left front portion of the car.

Cashin was ticketed for having no operator's license and failure to have the vehicle under control.

The accident occurred at 2:20 p. m. Sunday.

Cars In Accident Near Rapid River

A car driven by Alex Wickstrom, Whitefish, was hit broadside by Clarence Hannah, 53, Indianapolis, Ind., on U. S. 2-41 near Rapid River at 12:30 p. m. Sunday.

Wickstrom told state police officers that he'd pulled off the road to wait for traffic to pass in order to make a left turn. As he started across, he miscalculated the distance of the Hannah car. Wickstrom was ticketed for failure to yield the right of way and not carrying an operator's license.

Poultry Farmers Will Get Tips At Farmers Roundup

Farmers who raise poultry on their farms will be given tips for making more money in the enterprise at the annual Farmers' and Homemakers' Roundup at the Upper Peninsula Experiment Station, at Chatham, August 1.

Results of experiments with poultry will be interpreted with the idea of showing visitors how they can apply the findings to increase their own profits.

The poultry plant visit will enable farmers to see a summer shelter laying house in use. They also will see home-made community nests that have proven successful in tests, and are easy to make. January-hatched pullets started early for more high-priced eggs will be viewed and financial results discussed.

Visitors also will see a Caswell egg-candling lamp and fryer-raising operations on a poultry range. William Cargo, acting extension supervisor, says that all farmers in the Upper Peninsula are invited to attend the Roundup program.

Eisenhower And Nixon Form New Team To Head Republican Party

THE nomination of General Eisenhower as the Republican presidential candidate and the selection of 39-year-old Senator Richard Nixon as his running mate for the vice-presidency puts leadership of the Republican party in the hands of a new team.

The Old Guard was defeated at the Republican convention in Chicago last week. Eisenhower represents many of the things for which the Old Guard was vigorously opposed. Internationalism, for instance. He believes that the United States must join forces with Allies abroad to dike the spread of Moscow Communism.

Eisenhower's political theories apparently parallel to a considerable degree those of the late Senator Arthur Vandenberg of Michigan who was the real architect of America's bi-partisan foreign policy.

The selection of Sen. Nixon as Eisenhower's running mate represents still another break with the Old Guard. Nixon at 39 has had a meteoric rise in politics. His selection undoubtedly was designed to attract the support of young Americans in the November election.

Eisenhower has promised a fighting campaign. That he will get plenty of assistance from Sen. Nixon is evidenced by the tenacity displayed by Nixon in exposing Communism in the Democratic administration and particularly in the role played by Sen. Nixon in uncovering the treason of Alger Hiss.

Sen. Nixon says that the two main issues of the forthcoming campaign will be Trumanism and Communism. By Trumanism, the senator means corruption and inefficiency and undoubtedly he will draw upon the record generously in support of his charges.

The issue of Communism is predicated upon the Alger Hiss case and the government's laxity in shedding itself of pinkish government employees. It is significant that Nixon's success in Communist-hunting has not brought a "witch-hunting" tap on him, as it has Senator Joe McCarthy of Wisconsin and other colleagues.

Other Editorial Comments

SUITABLE LOTTERY

(Detroit Free Press)

In Vienna, a lawyer sued a tailor. He said the suits made for him by the tailor were a "joke," that his friends, and even strangers, stopped him in the street to laugh at him.

The judge suggested he model the clothes. Everyone in court, except the red-faced tailor, roared with laughter.

When his turn came, the tailor said his client was impossible to fit because he had "a head and shoulders like a bottleneck."

The tailor added: "Tailoring is a lottery, no master cutter in the world can guarantee that a suit made to measure will fit."

We agree with the tailor. Partly because we've never been able to afford a tailor-made suit, we've often assured ourselves that ready-mades fit just as well.

We hasten to add, however, that some tailors are superb craftsmen. We do this to avoid what happened to our lawyer friend in Vienna. Upon leaving the courtroom he was set upon by a mob of tailors led by the president of the local tailors' guild and beaten.

So now he's got another law suit on his hands, an assault and battery charge against the tailors. But he can afford it. He doesn't have to hire a lawyer.

Aunt Molly Harmsworth says the trouble with a lot of people is that they just do everything at the wrong time. ## Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—While the Republicans were picking their candidate in Chicago, President Truman finally decided on some candidates of his own.

And while he doesn't want to run himself, he has decided that he may change his mind—under certain circumstances.

These circumstances appear likely to get the nomination:

1. Sen. Russell of Georgia—The President has the highest personal regard for Russell, considers him one of the ablest men in the Senate, has remarked privately that if it wasn't for the race issue he could be the best candidate for the Democratic party. But the President knows that Russell would lose most of the Northern votes, and he is determined to see the Democrats win.

2. Sen. Bob Kerr of Oklahoma—Again, Truman is fond of Kerr personally, but he is also fully aware of Kerr's intimate links with the big oil and gas lobbies and knows the wires Kerr pulled to hike the price of gas to most of the nation.

3. Vice President Barkley—If it wasn't for his age, the President would probably be for him. Barkley has stuck to the basic liberalism of the Democratic party more faithfully than any other southern leader. But Truman is realistic and doesn't think the American people would ever elect a man 74 years old, and, again, the President is determined to win.

4. Speaker Sam Rayburn—The same applies for Rayburn. "Mr. Democrat," as Sam is called in Washington, has authored some of the cornerstones of the New Deal, but, at the age of 70, he simply couldn't get elected.

Therefore, if the Democratic convention meeting in Chicago a wee krom today begins veering in the direction of any of these four candidates, the President is ready to reverse himself and throw his hat back in the ring. The above will probably be denied. Nevertheless it is what the President has discussed with some of his highest party counselors.

What it boils down to is that the President, within limits, will have the veto power over who is to be the Democratic nominee.

THOSE TRUMAN WOULD SUPPORT

On the other hand he has also picked three Democrats he will support for the nomination at Chicago. They are:

1. Senator Kefauver—Though Truman started out with a large lack of enthusiasm for the Tennessee senator, he has come to realize that Kefauver talks like a winner, acts like a winner, and has all the earmarks of being a winner. In his many months of campaigning, Kefauver hasn't pulled a single bone, whereas Eisenhower's recent crack about the French will not only cost him the French-Canadian vote in Rhode Island, Massachusetts and New Hampshire in November but undid whatever build-up Eisenhower gave the North Atlantic pact while in Paris. Furthermore, Kefauver has supported the Roosevelt-Truman program more than any other Southern senator.

2. Governor Stevenson of Illinois—While the President has been slightly miffed over the way Stevenson has played coy and tried to divorce himself from any association with Truman, nevertheless, the President thinks he would be a strong liberal candidate with a real chance to win.

3. Averell Harriman—Truman started out having his fingers crossed on Harriman. He even said he didn't think Harriman could have a Chinaman's chance of being elected. Lately however, Harriman's flair for campaigning, his persistence and his courage have caused the President partly to change his mind. While he still doesn't think Harriman is the most practical candidate, he considers him the most idealistic and he would definitely be acceptable.

The President is expressing no preference regarding the above three, and any combination between them would be satisfactory—such as a slate of Kefauver and Stevenson or Stevenson and Harriman. But if either of them make a deal with those on the taboo list, then Truman would not be happy.

As he watched the feuds of the Republican convention last week, the President became more and more convinced that a strong Democratic ticket can win, and he is determined not to let victory turn into defeat—even if he has to run again, or threaten to.

Into The Past

10 YEARS AGO

Vichy, Unoccupied France—The Gestapo was shooting all the relatives of hunted French saboteurs who wouldn't voluntarily surrender.

Cairo—The British navy was pounding the supply lines of General Rommel with success; Matruh was left in flames by the fleet's guns.

Escanaba—Miss Jane McDonnell visited at the family home, 320 S. 17th St. Miss McDonnell is a registered nurse from Detroit.

Gladstone—Mr. and Mrs. Phil Hupy and Mr. and Mrs. Louis Burn spent a holiday in Waukegan.

Manistique—Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Richey and daughter Cathryn spent the weekend in Iron Mountain and Crystal Falls.

20 YEARS AGO

Washington—Canada and the United States finally reached an agreement to build the $800 billion St. Lawrence seaway to open every harbor on the Great Lakes to ocean commerce.

Escanaba—Escanaba was host to the fourth Air Tour when 40 planes arrived at the city airport.

Escanaba—Mrs. J. C. Kirkpatrick, who had lived in Cleveland, resumed residence in Escanaba at 328 S. 5th St.

Manistique—George R. Mattson was honored with appointment as district deputy of Knights of Columbus No. 5.

"I Yield the Floor, Walter"

Nixon, GOP Veeep Candidate, Has Had Meteoric Political Career

By DOUGLAS LARSEN

NEA Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—Richard M. Nixon came to Washington in January, 1947, admittedly one of the greenest of the big new batch of youthful veterans who had been elected to the 80th Congress. Now, barely 5½ years later, he's holding down second place on the GOP presidential ticket.

Nixon had a good idea right at the start. He believed that the most successful way to go after Communists, in and out of government in the U. S., was in a coldly methodical, strictly legal manner. He derided the demagogic, Red-baiting tactics used by so many Commie-hunters as un-American and not too effective. And if necessary, he thought, tighten the laws to help protect the country against the Red threat.

He parlayed this idea into one of the most meteoric political careers this country has seen in recent generations. It led directly to his nomination for the vice-presidency.

If he is elected, at 39 he will become the second youngest man ever to hold that job. John C. Breckinridge, elected in 1856, was 35 years old when he took office. Milestones in the amazing Nixon career include:

Responsibility for the contempt of Congress citation of the notorious Red leader, Gerhard Eisler, and the group indictment of Eugene Dennis and others.

Leadership in the expose of the activities of Alger Hiss which eventually sent Hiss to jail.

Authorship of several laws which have given Government officials new weapons for combating the activities of Red agents.

The climax of his career came in 1950 when he soundly trounced the popular Helen Gahagan Douglas for one of California's Senate seats. He had been appointed to that seat earlier by Gov. Earl Warren to fill out an unexpired term.

In addition to his fight against the Communies, Nixon won national attention for urging that John L. Lewis be charged with violation of a Supreme Court order in connection with the 1947 coal strike.

His voting record in Congress stamps him as a typical liberal Republican. He voted to limit presidential tenure to two terms. He has regularly voted for income tax reductions.

He has voted for abolishing the poll tax, for the Taft-Hartley labor act, Greek-Turkish aid, and extension of reciprocal trade agreements.

Nixon has a thick mane of curly hair, a lantern jaw and a lean, sometimes awkward frame. He speaks quietly and effectively and has developed into a persuasive public speaker since coming to Washington. He has exposed himself to Washington's active social life much less than the average Senator.

With his wife and two young daughters, he lives very modestly. Before embarking on his highly successful political career, Nixon practiced law, worked for the Government for a while and spent several years as an officer in the Navy during the war.

His birthplace is Yorba Linda, Calif. He attended public schools in his state, won his B. A. at Whittier College, and went to Duke for his law degree.

Although Nixon's big vote-getting appeal has been based on his fight against Communists, his popularity among Congressmen and political leaders is based on something more than that. Not the back-slapping type, he is sincere and hard-working.

As typified by aggressive but clean tactics against the Communists, he is fair-minded and thorough in everything that he tackles.

Even most of the persons who have been hostile witnesses before the committees on which Nixon has served have admitted that.

On the whole, Nixon's tremendous popularity in the West, his great knowledge of the Communist problem and his sincere, crowd-winning personality makes him a valuable, strong running-mate on the GOP ticket.

Indonesians Hungry On Richest Islands

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Six American 80-foot PT boats capable of 45 knots will soon be patrolling waters surrounding the more than 3,000 islands that compose the young Republic of Indonesia.

Manned by Indonesian sailors and equipped with radar and other modern navigation devices, the craft will aid the Far Eastern nation's drive to control smuggling and illegal immigration—evils contributing to Indonesia's current critical shortage of food.

"We are facing an appalling future, a case of life or death for Indonesia," President Soekarno told his people recently. He was reviewing the statistics of population versus food production. A million tons of rice are lacking each year even for subsistence diets, he said.

Yet this fledgling nation is one of the wealthiest on earth in natural resources. Barely touched are treasures in rubber and oil, sugar and spices, minerals and fibers, says the National Geographic Society. For such "wealth of the Indies," world powers fought for centuries.

80,000,000 Strong
The virtually countless islands of Indonesia stretch along the equator from the southernmost mainland of Asia to the northern tip of Australia. On them live 80,000,000 people, nearly as many as in Japan.

Largest Moslem country in the world in terms of people, Indonesia is the hinge around which the future of much of southeast Asia swings. Its people fervently wish to remain neutral in the conflict between East and West. "Merdeka," meaning freedom, has been their rallying cry ever since they declared independence on the heels of World War II and began a four-year struggle to make it stick.

Oil and Temples
Indonesia's main island is Java, seat of its capital, Djakarta, new name for old Batavia. Home of more than half the nation's people, Java is the most crowded region of its size on earth.

From Samatra and Borneo come rivers of oil. Bali, where Hindu gods still reign, is a place of temples and spectacular rice terraces, glittering dances and ancient music.

Ridged by chains of active volcanoes, parts of Indonesia are still among the wildest places on earth, inhabited by peoples seldom if ever visited by outsiders. In other parts of the islands, modern manufacturing plants turn out an increasing flow of goods.

Educational leaders are battling illiteracy. Arts and sciences flourish. Four new universities have been formed. While Indonesia fights to free itself, it looks toward the day when the Indies' wealth will bring prosperity.

It is better to embarrass a foreign power, if embarrassment is necessary, rather than embarrass the American people.—Lt.-Gen. Albert C. Wedemeyer.

Good Evening . . .

(Robert Ruark is substituting for Clint Dunathan who is on vacation.)

By ROBERT C. RUARK

CHICAGO — When I carved this into imperishable stone it looked awful like-yout, but whoever wins the distinction of being the Republican candidate may say one silent prayer for himself. This is that he will make a better President than he made a candidate. If he makes President at all.

This has been a convention that seems to have been decided on a basis of who has been wronged than whom. The fight over credentials of delegates literally has seemed to determine choice of the man, in a parliamentary fight which has discarded personality and qualification for technicality. It has been a battle of whereas.

Mr. Taft has been portrayed in the light of an unsuccessful horse thief, and Mr. Eisenhower has seemingly been able to close the barn door after the horse was swiped. It has been so far a contest over the legitimacy of the purloined delegates, with Ike winning the scrap and almost certainly the right to contest for the national throne.

DUEL OF MISTAKES

In this one we seem to have lucked out, for good or bad, on our candidate, because no living non-liar can say that the Taft and Eisenhower campaigns have been managed with exceptional shrewdness. The duel of mistakes just finally resolved itself into a faintly hollow note of triumph—as of this time—for Ike.

We have almost been apt to forget out here that the end of this week's work is only the beginning to the basic strife, and that whoever gets the nod has now got to settle down and labor with an eye to defeating the Democratic lad. Certainly, the battle in November will be less bitter than the battle within the Republican party, which may be one reason the elephant boys have been out of steady employment so long.

The intramural warfare has continued for a week, and I still don't know what the Republican party stands for, except its own anger at its own components. Mr. MacArthur keynoted, and Mr. Hoover keynoted, but they were speaking contrary to the undeclared views of the man they may have to support, since they have been admittedly more for Taft than for Eisenhower.

I would like to suggest at this point that there is still an election to be won over the politically sophisticated Democrats, who are laying back just loaded for the Republican bear. Four years ago when the GOPs dropped the mantle on Tom Dewey they figured it was all over but the patronage, and settled down in the hammock for the summer. This gave us four more years of Democratic administration, which by common count seems to have been something less than lovely.

MUST STEP FIGHTING

If the Republicans keep on yelling at one another through the hot months, and rehearsing the bitterness of the attempted horse thievery, there is a fairly good chance that some quiet politician with a jackass for an emblem will take up residence in that newly decorated house in Washington.

If you recall, the elephant boys blew the last one out of smugness. Even the personal magnitude of an Eisenhower can become obscured in a family fight, a sit has been obscured in the last couple of months when he made a belated start to impress the nation with his worth.

You cannot have been out here very long without feeling a faint disgust at the hollering and back-stabbing that the Republicans have engaged in. You leave the city with a sense of non-appreciation for the real issue, for the real people who will represent the party. You just feel like a serious writing man who has been fighting a losing battle with commas and semicolons to the exclusion of the sense of the piece he had in mind.

Power With Words

By Dr. C. E. Funk

"LEFT BEHIND AS A MEMORY"
"The cradle's but a relic of the former foolish days."

When mothers reared their children in unscientific ways.

Anything left behind as a memory, that is, we speak of as a relic (REL-ik). To the poet just quoted, a cradle was a relic. A tinsy picture of your grandmother might be a relic, or any object of interest held over from past times. Or, in a somewhat morbid sense, the remains of a holy person or a deceased person are relics. That is, left behind.

Formerly, also, a widow was spoken of as a relic (REL-ik). She, too, was left behind.

Both words trace back to Latin reliquo, to leave behind, and are therefore closely connected to our word relinquish (re-LING-kwish). Here, however, we let go of that which we leave behind. We remove ourselves, that is, a nation relinquishes possession of land by surrendering it to another. A boxer relinquishes his championship title when defeated by a better man. A plan or an undertaking may be relinquished when, for good reason, it is abandoned.

And this leads us to derelict (DAIR-ek-lik). Take away the initial de and we have almost the word we started with. A derelict, that is, is something that is left behind, especially something that is abandoned utterly. A ship that has been abandoned becomes a derelict. Anything thrown away by its owner is a derelict. And a person who has thrown himself away, as by excessive drinking, and is abandoned by society, is a derelict.

Delinquent (de-LING-kwent) also traces back to the same root—linquo, to leave, forsake, abandon. A delinquent person is one who forsakes a duty, who neglects an obligation, or who, through forsaking his duty, commits a fault or is guilty of wrongdoing. Juvenile delinquency (de-LING-kwen-si) includes wrongdoing by young people, usually under 18 years of age.

A Florida conductor was only slightly injured when struck by lightning. Maybe he's a non-conductor.

Researchers Open New Doors Leading to Prevention of Polio

BY EDWIN P. JORDAN, M. D. — Written for NEA Service

It may seem to many people that little progress has been made by research workers in their attempts to conquer the dread disease, polio.

This, however, is not the case, and much information is becoming available which is opening new doors and which may eventually lead to more satisfactory methods of preventing this disease, and of treating it.

A summary of a few of the developments of recent years gives great hope for this brighter future, even though just how some of these facts can be used in a practical way is not yet entirely clear.

For example, it is now realized that when a severe case of polio has been correctly diagnosed, it is already late in the course of the disease.

It is also realized that the virus which causes polio does not necessarily attack the nervous system and cause paralysis, and that in fact, many have the disease without ever having any nervous or muscular symptoms. Obviously, this may eventually lead to some important changes in treatment, or prevention.

Another important research development lies in the recent discovery that the virus can be grown in a tissue—culture test tube, and that much work can be done with the virus in this manner which formerly could be performed only by using monkeys as experimental animals.

This will make easier and less expensive many studies which may have an important bearing on the disease.

One thing which is badly needed is a test which will make it possible to diagnose polio early and in those patients who do not have any nervous symptoms as well as in those who do.

For at least 35 years research workers have been trying to develop such a test, and even though this has not yet come, their efforts will surely be crowned with success sometime. When a test is perfected, it will permit many other forward steps to be taken.

For many years it has been thought by close observers of polio that excessive physical exertion, fatigue, or some other form of stress might exert an unfavorable action on the disease.

BED REST ADVISABLE

In one report, 411 patients with polio from three epidemics were studied with regard to the amount of physical activity which they performed around the time when their illness began.

Study of the results suggested that physical activity done before the disease had actually begun did not seem to have much effect on the severity of the paralysis.

However, when physical activity was carried out after the signs of illness had appeared, even before they had become serious, there did seem to be a definite increase in the numbers of those who developed paralysis, and in the severity of such paralysis.

Consequently, it would seem wise in the presence of polio in the community to put every youngster with minor symptoms to bed for a short time until one is sure that the disease is not polio.

15-Foot Rowboat Leads Big Liners To Dock In New York

By SAUL PETT

AP Newsfeatures Writer

NEW YORK—For all her 83,000 tons, for all the 200,000 horsepower of her giant steam turbines, there is a moment in the docking of the Queen Elizabeth when it seems that the world's biggest ship is being pulled into port by a rowboat.

Rowboat Races To Ship

Just as the huge liner, nudged by tugs, begins to turn into the pier, the men in the rowboat race out from the dock to her bow.

There, tossing around within three feet of the mountainous, steel-plated hull while the Queen is still moving in, they catch a heaving line from the deck 60 feet above.

The heaving line, which leads to a hawser, is then rowed quickly back to the pier. It is the first of the Queen's lines which reach the dock. Because of the ship's great height, the line can't simply be dropped onto the wharf. It has to be picked up before the ship comes alongside the pier.

More often than not, the two shepherds in the rowboat are Bill Gordon and Oskar Moe, both members of the sailor gang at the Cunard pier. Oskar rows. Bill navigates and handles the line.

Job Takes Experience

"That little job, even though it takes only a few minutes," said Gordon, "requires a lot of experience. It has to be timed perfectly to the ship's movements and the tide."

"We have to watch the backwash of the tugs or we'll get tossed around. We have to get back as quickly as possible with the line or the ship, as it moves in, will crush our rowboat against the dock."

Gordon's worst experience occurred recently. Coming near the starboard bow of the Queen Mary, their tiny boat suddenly was bounced against the huge hull. A tugboat on the port side of the liner was pulling water under the keel.

Both Gordon and Moe were doused with water from one of the Mary's scuppers.

"The worst thing," said Moe, "was it seemed like everyone on the pier and deck of the ship were laughing at us."

Several years ago, before Gordon and Moe's time, the two men assigned to the rowboat had a real close one. Somehow, because of strong currents and heavy wind, they found themselves caught between the Queen Elizabeth and the pier. As the ship moved menacingly closer to the dock, the men saved themselves only by rowing into an opening in

LIKE A SARDINE towing a whale, the rowboat leads the big Queen Elizabeth to dock by catching the first line tossed to haul the hawser ashore.

His Vote Indecisive, Swears Off Voting

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (AP)—One Wayne County farmer isn't going to bother voting this year because he doesn't think one vote means a thing.

"A couple of years ago they were voting on centralization of the school district here. I didn't vote," he said. "Then some fellow came around and said, 'There's going to be another vote on the proposition and you'd better vote. We lost the last time by one vote.' So I voted."

"Well, there must of been 800 or a thousand votes cast and after it was over the same fellow came to me again and said: 'What do you know about that—we lost by one vote again.'"

"Now nobody can tell me that can happen twice in a row so I decided that's the last time I'll vote."

Secret Air Base Bill Approved

WASHINGTON—(AP)—President Truman today approved an act authorizing $2,388,282,800 for military construction—mostly secret air bases.

But the new law also provides for closer controls over military spending.

The act is merely an authorization for the construction program. The actual appropriation, in a separate bill, amounted to $2,288,000,000 about 740 million short of Truman's recommendation.

The authorization act approves $328,047,800 for the Army, $256,375,000 for the Navy and $1,813,360,000 for the Air Force.

Most of the Air Force fund is tabbed for secret airfields from Japan to Europe. They are for use only by U. S. forces and are separate from fields to be used by mutual security forces.

The law carries a requirement that military chiefs must obtain approval by both the Senate and House armed services committees before they can go ahead with classified or secret projects.

Another provision directs the defense department to create a new office of director of installations, to be manned by a civilian to maintain direct control over all military building.

The act also reduces the maximum cost for permanent barracks construction. The new figure is $1,700 a man instead of the old yardstick of $2,000. Temporary barracks costs must be held to $1,400 and bachelor officers' quarters to $5,000.

MASS COMBINING speeds the harvest. At Arlington, Kans., trucks keep pace with mowers and unload combines in "plane-refueling" fashion.

QUEUED UP all day are laden wheat trucks headed for the City Cooperative grain elevator at Dodge City, Kan. Elevators are quickly filled, so growers must dump grain in the open.

End Of Eviction Fight At Lapeer Expected Today

puties from the farm of Mrs. Elizabeth Stevens after a hard-fought but successful battle Friday to evict the 60-year-old widow.

The sheriff acted Saturday after reporting an "unidentified party" from Detroit had called him and said arrangements would be completed today to buy the Stevens home from Mrs. Grace White, Lapeer attorney, and return it to the original owner.

The late husband of Mrs. Stevens and brothers Chris and Paul Ziegenhards had held stock in the Lapeer Farmers Mutual Fire Insurance Association which failed in 1935.

Two sons failed. As a result both farms were sold at a court-ordered auction to pay members' shares of the association loss. This was done according to Michigan law and after both the Ziegenhards and Mrs. Stevens had refused to pay their assessments.

Last Friday, with a force of deputies and two women nurses, the sheriff raided the Stevens home and literally dragged the screaming widow off the farm. A battle royal ensued inside the house between the deputies and two of Mrs. Stevens' sons in which eight officers were injured.

The two sons, Donald, 29, and Kendrick, have been jailed for a hearing tomorrow on a charge of obstructing justice.

New Tenant Leaves. Mrs. Stevens, mother of nine, was taken to a hospital where her physician reported she had suffered shock, bruises and a partial nervous collapse. Also hospitalized was her daughter Dorothy, 22, with a wrenched neck and sprained hip suffered in the melee.

Later Friday and through the night angry neighbors stormed about the area and Sheriff Gregory was forced to keep a cordon of deputies on the scene to prevent the farm's recapture.

Richard Newman, Flint fireman who was installed by Mrs. White as a tenant on the farm, gave up and left the house, telling newsmen, "I'm no hero."

The crowds dispersed after Newman's departure and after Gregory announced today's parley.

Boy, 9, Drowns In Pit Despite 17 Lifeguards

DETROIT—(AP)—Although 17 lifeguards were on duty, nine-year-old Phillip Lark drowned Sunday in a Macomb county gravel pit converted into a swimming pool.

It was the fifth drowning this year at the pit. Witnesses blamed the large crowd for confusion that hampered efforts to rescue the boy.

Lifeguards rescued and revived two of Phillip's playmates before they realized the Lark boy was still submerged. They recovered his body and applied artificial respiration for 45 minutes without success.

The boys had plunged into a diving area on the wrong side of a guide rope marking off a shallow water area.

Fisherman Dies

NEWBERRY, Mich.—(AP)—Fred Hunnell, 64, of Lansing, died of a heart attack at Mueckellunge lake Sunday night. He and his wife were vacationing at a cabin on the lake. Hunnell was widely known in insurance circles, having represented the New York Life Insurance Co. at Lansing for 22 years.

Kansas Looks for Record 300,000,000 - Bushel Wheat Crop

There's a new flood in Kansas—this time a beneficent one. It's a golden flood of wheat that promises to give the state its first 300,000,000-bushel crop—far surpassing the record 286,702,000-bushel harvest of 1947. This would mean a farm income from wheat of some $660,000,000, based on the average loan price of $2.20 a bushel. Most fields produce 20 bushels to the acre, with many reports of 30 to 35-bushel yields. Storage of this bin-busting flood is the big problem. Grain elevator operators are already reporting their elevators glutted. There is a shortage of box cars. In three days, 350 cars were loaded between Salina and Osborne—that's a lot of wheat along 80 miles of track. So wheat is being piled up outdoors—in the fields and in city streets.

ANOTHER TRUCKLOAD is added to the 30,000-bushel pile of wheat dumped in street near business section of Columbus, Kan.

MOUNTAINS OF WHEAT pile up on the ground north of Pratt, Kans., after the Pratt Equity elevator was filled and a shortage of boxcars developed. The dumped grain is valued at more than $400,000. Such "wheat mountains" are common in the crop-boom areas.

Wants Pressure Off In Olympics

SAN FRANCISCO—(AP)—The San Francisco Chronicle today urged fans and sportswriters to spare the American Olympic team from "beat Russia" pressure.

"In those events where the Russians win and our men lose, we do not expect to find grounds for becoming disturbed over the nation's chances of political survival," the newspaper said in an editorial titled "take the heat off Olympic Athletics."

The Chronicle said the Russians have, in effect, told their athletes "win or else!" It added: "This is the Communist way—but it is not the American. x x x we do not consider the national honor is sullied when an American athlete does his best, if that best is not good enough to win."

"American fans and newsgatherers should keep the cold war pressure off our boys, the 400-meter run unfurled with foreign policy."

Red Party Violence Breaks Out In Japan

Two Nisei soldiers, Keiji Konya and Donald Hasuiki, were surrounded by hostile Japanese at a railroad station. One was struck on the forehead. The other suffered facial cuts.

Guardsmen In Brig Save 3 At Cleveland

CLEVELAND—(AP)—Two Coast Guardsmen who said they were prisoners dived into Lake Erie from a crashboat yesterday and saved a man and his two small sons from drowning.

The rescuers—Harrison Cornell and Louis Gibbs—told reporters they were serving time at the Coast Guard station for going AWOL and should not have been on the crashboat.

They were not confined to the brig during the day, they said.

The two leaped off the crashboat when a small outboard motorboat capsized nearby. Saved were Sam Rosen and his sons, Sidney, 7, and Gerald, 9.

Late Deputy Premier Mourned In Israel

TEL AVIV, Israel—(AP)—The body of Elieser Kaplan, Israel's late deputy premier, was flown back today from Genoa, Italy. He died there yesterday of a heart attack.

Flags were lowered to half-staff throughout Israel for the 61-year-old leader, who had launched this young country's financial and economic programs. He was minister of finance from 1948 until last month, when he resigned because of ill health.

Enroute to Switzerland with his wife and daughter for a rest, Kaplan was stricken Saturday aboard ship and was taken to the hospital in Genoa where he died.

Boy Drowns, Stuck In Swimming Pool

FORREST CITY, Ark.—(AP)—A 13-year-old boy thrust his knee into a small hole in a side wall of the municipal swimming pool yesterday and drowned before lifeguards could pull him free.

Sheriff's deputy George Irvin said the youth, Don Kelley, apparently out of curiosity stuck his bent knee into the hole, which was about seven feet below the surface of the water.

Billy Long, who was swimming under water with Don, rose to the surface and shouted for lifeguards, but Don was dead when he was taken from the pool.

Canned Goods Controls Off

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The government today lifted controls on nearly all canned and frozen fruits and vegetables. Price Stabilizer Ellis Arnall predicted this will mean higher prices for a number of items.

Arnall noted a statement that the Office of Price Stabilization was forced to take the decontrol action under an amendment Congress tacked on to the economic controls law.

The amendment, introduced by Rep. Harrison (D-Va.), specifically exempted "fruits and vegetables in fresh or processed from price control."

The exemption actually became effective July 1 but OPS officials had been studying the field to determine how broad the exemption should be. An OPS official estimated the exemption applies to at least 90 per cent of all processed fruits and vegetables.

He added that the exemption "clearly and unequivocally" applies to fruit and vegetable juices; canned and frozen fruits and vegetables, including baby or junior foods; potato chips and dried fruits.

Weekend Talks At Pittsburgh Run Into Snag

ers, old or new, to join the union.

One modification of the union shop already has been made part of various contracts signed by the USW and several small steel companies. That plan allows workers, who must join the union, to withdraw between the 20th and 30th day of employment. The union shop version now reported to be before the union for approval is considered a still further modification of the traditional union shop.

It was learned the government has agreed to a price increase of at least $5 a ton to compensate the industry for wage increases it may grant striking steelworkers. Steel now sells for about $110 a ton.

One other issue also must be considered—wages. The companies have offered the union a pay increase of 16 cents an hour, retroactive to April 1.

But to this proposal the union says "No." It wants the retroactive date back to March 15. Indications are the industry will go along but only if the union agrees to a modified union shop.

Cost Two Billion Industry's offer also includes paid holidays, higher shift differentials and other fringe benefits. Pre-strike wages averaged $1.95 an hour.

Conservatively speaking the crippling strike has dented the nation's economy to the tune of nearly two billion dollars. More layoffs loom—particularly in the automotive industry in which there are nearly 300,000 idle.

Over the nation about 1,500,000 workers are idle as a result of the steel strike. About 600,000 of the total are striking USW members. The remainder are employed in allied or steel-using industries. Freight car loading, for example, has sunk to an 18-year low.

And the steel industry itself is only operating at about 15 per cent of capacity with estimates of lost steel production, running as high as 12,700,000 tons.

Two Ships And Pier Damaged By Blast At Martinez, Calif.

MARTINEZ, Calif.—(AP)—Union Oil Co. officials today sought the cause of explosions and a rampaging fire that damaged two tankers and a pier, took probably three lives and injured 30 men.

Officials tentatively said the three million dollar fire presumably started at a leaking oil connection between the 8,168 ton tanker Victor H. Kelly and the pier Saturday. A routine military investigation for possible sabotage was ordered.

Officials estimated damage to the wharf at $2,500,000; to the Kelly at $500,000 and to the second tanker to which the fire spread, the 10,488 ton Lompoc, $25,000.

Capt. Eugene Fulton, 52, Los Angeles, skipper of the Kelly, fell dead of a heart attack as he ordered his crew to abandon the flaming ship.

Two crewmen, R. N. Yarger of Los Angeles and W. A. Liggins of Napa, Calif., are missing and presumed dead.

Two Men Found Dead On Top Of Box Car In Niles, Mich., Yards

NILES, Mich.—(AP)—Police today sought the identity of one of two men killed while riding on top of a box car of a New York Central freight train.

Blood dripping from the box car roof yesterday led to the discovery of the bodies of the men, apparently killed when the train passed under a low bridge. Both the victims had suffered crushing blows on the head.

From an able seaman's card and a card of the Illinois Masonic Hospital Association, police identified one of the victims as John W. Condon, Jr., 54, of Detroit.

The identity of the second victim was not known.

A railroad inspector found the bodies strapped facing each other on top of the car. And at first state police thought they might have been the victims of foul play. But later they ruled the deaths as accidental.

Freight car riders frequently strap themselves on to keep from falling off trains, police said.

Veteran GM Official And Wife Killed By Train Near Lapeer

LAPEER, Mich.—(AP)—General Motors vice president Arnold W. Lenz, 64, general manager of GM's Pontiac Division, was killed with his wife in a train-car crash yesterday.

Their car skidded 100 feet into the side of a Michigan Central passenger train at an unprotected grade crossing near here.

Lenz and his wife Amelia, 53, were enroute to visit their youngest daughter Barbara, 11, at a Girl Scout camp.

Lenz, whose home was in Grand Blanc, Mich., was a veteran of 34 years service with General Motors. He joined the Buick Motor Co. in Flint in 1916 as a foundry inspector. He became head of Pontiac Division in December, 1950. He was due to retire at the end of this year.

Weatherman Has Mixed Menu Today

(By The Associated Press)

The weather blew hot and cool over wide areas of the country today.

A mid-July spell of hot and humid weather continued from Texas and the Gulf states northward to the southern Great Lakes region and the middle Atlantic states. Temperatures were generally in the 90s over the area yesterday with a top of 100 at Malden, Mo.

But there was some relief in Midwest areas today as cool air from the northern and central Rockies spread over the northern plains eastward to the northern Great Lakes region. It was a cool 48 in Grand Forks, N. D., early today.

There were a few wet spots. Thunderstorms hit areas from Wisconsin and southern Minnesota southward into Iowa, Missouri and parts of Illinois and in the central plains. Strong winds accompanied thunderstorms in parts of Kansas and Nebraska. Showers were reported in parts of the southeast while fair weather prevailed in other areas.

Muskegon Youths Rescue 4 In Lake

WHITEHALL, Mich.—(AP)—Two Muskegon youths were credited with risking their own lives as they successfully rescued four persons from the windswept waters of Lake Michigan here yesterday.

The youths, William Kobza and Joe Homrich, rowed a boat through the heavy chop to rescue two men and two little girls who had been knocked overboard from their cabin cruiser by a huge wave.

Those rescued were D. Coleman Glover, of Lansing, his two young daughters, Patricia and Kathy, and Glover's half-brother, Bryce Metcalf of New York.

Wall Street

By RADER WINGET

NEW YORK—(AP)—A buoyant tone was maintained today by the Stock Market in spite of the hitch in steel peace negotiations. Gains ran from fractions to around a point while losses were fractional and scattered.

Steels, motors and railroads were the most prominent on the upside with some help from non-ferrous metals and rubbers.

Volume was at a good rate, considerably in excess of Friday's 1,040,000 shares.

The market started with moderate activity and prices well ahead. Around mid-morning many issues, especially steels, backed down from their best.

On Friday the high hopes in Wall Street for an early settlement of the steel strike encouraged buying. But there was little or no corresponding selling today as a result of the breakdown in talks over the week-end.

Higher stocks included Bethlehem Steel, Chrysler, Santa Fe, Goodyear, Anaconda Copper, J. I. Case, Westinghouse Electric, and Atlantic Refining.

Magma Copper was up strongly after the announcement that the RFC in Washington had approved a 94 million dollar loan for San Manuel Copper Corp., a wholly-owned subsidiary of Magma, for development of Arizona Mining properties.

One block of 15,000 shares of American Gold & Platinum moved at 5 1/8 up 1/4.

American Girls Deny Beauty Crown Rigged Up For Miss Finland

HOLLYWOOD—(AP)—Some of the American girls who wound up as "also rans" in the "Miss Universe" contest recently in Long Beach, Calif., do not agree with "Miss Italy," who said in her native Rome yesterday that an American girl should have been crowned winner.

The Italian miss contended the contest was rigged in favor of Miss Finland, who won, as an Olympic Games publicity stunt.

The Italian contestant, Giovanna Mazzotti, a movie starlet, said she was particularly impressed with the "beauty and perfection" of "Miss Louisiana," Jeanne Thompson; "Miss Montana," Valerie Jackson; "Miss New Jersey," Ruth Hampton, and others.

But the Louisiana entrant, Miss Thompson, of Baton Rouge, said it is her opinion "and the consensus of the American girls, I believe" that the judges picked the right girl, Armi Kuusela, who is "Miss Finland."

Miss Jackson concurred with her and said that while it was "most gracious" of the Italian miss to favor the American girls, she did not believe there were political considerations involved, as Miss Mazzotti declared.

Saves Sister In Boat

BATTLE CREEK—(AP)—Quick-thinking James Kreeck, 13, brought his eight-year-old sister Cheryl safely to shore Sunday after their boat caught fire on Gun Lake. The fire started in an outboard motor and quickly enveloped the boat. James fought through the flames, made a line fast to the motor and threw it overboard, then rowed to shore despite painfully burned hands, towing the motor behind. He is vacationing here with his parents from Lyons, Ill.

Eisenhower Off On Vacation; New Manager Hunted

a Democrat, is seeking Lodge's seat.

Eisenhower also announced, however, that Lodge will continue to have close contact with the General's campaign as chairman of an advisory committee.

Press Secretary Hired

At the same time, the General officially added to his staff the executive assistant of Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York, James C. Hagerty.

Hagerty will serve as Eisenhower's press secretary. He also was Dewey's press man in the New Yorker's 1948 presidential campaign, and he had an important role in planning strategy which won the GOP nomination for Eisenhower last Friday.

Other appointments announced by Eisenhower amounted mainly to assignment of formal titles to men who helped direct the General's pre-convention campaign.

They include Arthur H. Vandenberg Jr., son of the late senator from Michigan, as executive assistant; Sen. Frank Carlson of Kansas as an advisor; and Thomas E. Stephens—another Dewey man—as appointment secretary.

Also named as an advisor was Sen. Fred A. Seaton of Nebraska who had an active role in the late stages of the General's campaign for the nomination.

Resigns From Army

As for replacing Lodge, Eisenhower aides indicated the General will make no immediate decision. They seem to feel that for the present strategy will be handled mainly by the General's present staff and by the new chairman of the Republican national committee, Arthur F. Summerfield of Michigan.

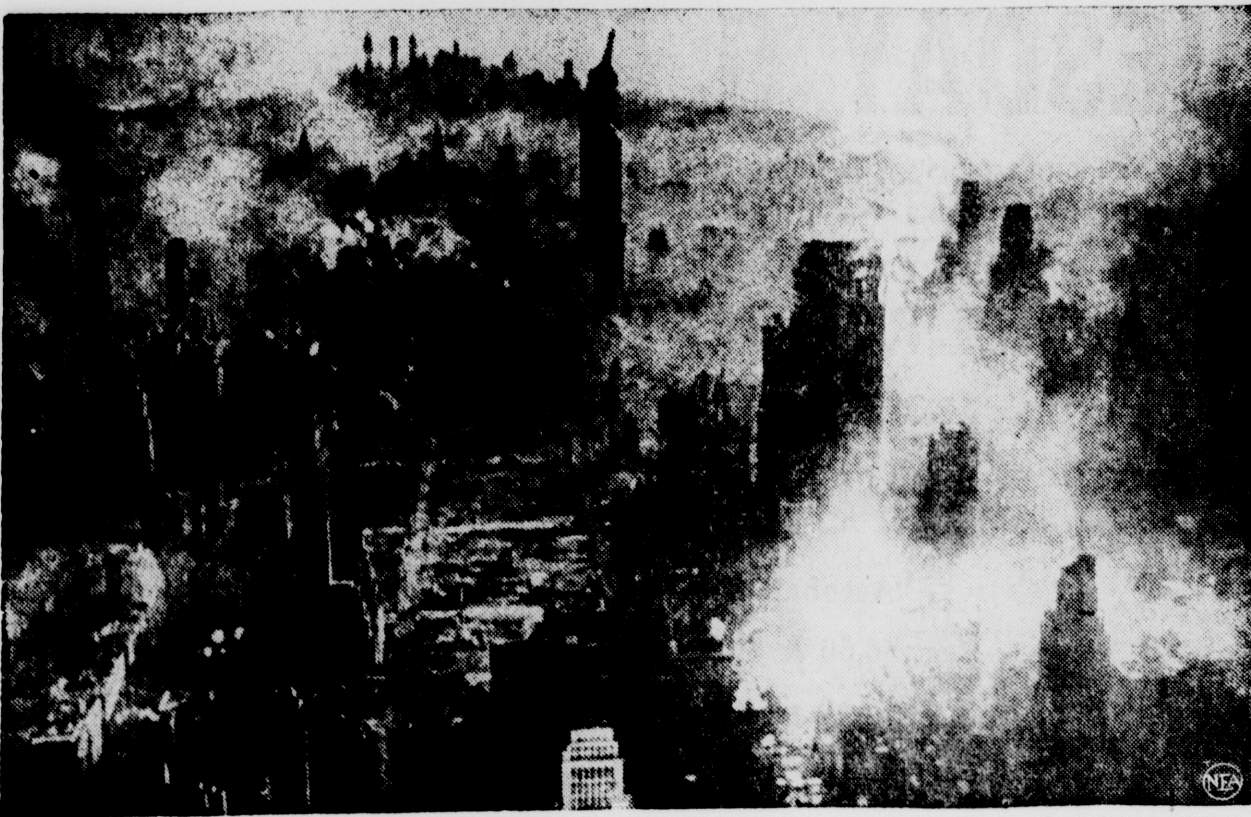

The General and Mrs. Eisenhower spent yesterday afternoon relaxing with their three grandchildren at Fort Sheridan, about 25 miles north of Chicago on Lake Michigan.

A-Bomb Film Gets Impact From Scale Models

New York City will crumble before your eyes. And before you get to your feet bombs will level San Francisco and Boulder Dam. But don't be alarmed. For if you witness this shocking panorama of destruction, you will be seated in one of the theaters that will soon show Hollywood's Newest thriller, "Invasion, U. S. A." Achieving extreme realism with meticulously constructed miniature replicas of several cities, the film portrays an atomic invasion of the U. S. Reproduced at left and below are scenes from the grim American Pictures Corporation film.

Peggie Castle, who stars in the film, inspects one of the fire-scarred miniature skyscrapers.

German POW Secrets Found In Old Camp

MONTEITH, Canada — (AP)—Inmates of the Monteith Jail found many surprises as they tore down the barracks constructed here for a German prisoner-of-war camp during World War II. So far they have found two home-made radios, numerous maps and a box filled with contraband materials hidden in the walls of the buildings. The radios, about 4 inches square, were built from scrap including parts of combs, cigarette papers, nails, wire, flash-light bulbs for tubes and small batteries. The walls of one of the buildings demolished recently were found plugged with earth, obviously removed from a tunnel. Although the barracks buildings sat on posts and the ground under them was floodlighted, several escape tunnels were discovered by guards.

Yugoslavia Assails Pro-Russian Italians

BELGRADE — (AP)—Communist Yugoslavia may crack down soon on political refugees—particularly those from Italy—who shirk work in this country or spread pro-Russian propaganda. The Belgrade newspaper Politika, reflecting the views of the government, called attention to the problem recently in an angry article denouncing a "minority" of such refugees abusing this country's "fraternal hospitality." It was directed against both those who have fled the iron-fist Russian rule of the neighboring Soviet satellites and "especially" against refugees from Italy opposed to the administration of Prime Minister Alcide De Gasperi.

Oldest Insurance Policy Owner Now 97

DES MOINES, Iowa — (AP)—Charles H. Hutsonpiller, 97, who took out his policy in 1868 when you had to get special permission to make the "hazardous trip" to California, has been recognized as owner of the oldest life insurance policy in force in the United States. Hutsonpiller said his father bought him the $1,000 10-payment Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Policy when he was 14 on the promise he would never drink liquor. He said he never has. The hand-written policy contained a special clause granting permission to travel to or from California. Hutsonpiller has taken advantage of the clause several times. In the 83½ years the policy has been in force, dividends have totaled $578. Premiums totaled $340.90. The policy will mature when Hutsonpiller reaches 100. When you are cleaning milk bottles pour a little baking soda into them, add water, soak and shake to hasten the cleansing action.

Gladstone Man Is Sent To Jail On Indecency Charge

IRON MOUNTAIN—Hubert L. Minor, 60, of Gladstone, appearing Friday in municipal court, pleaded guilty to indecent and obscene conduct and was ordered to serve 90 days in the county jail; the maximum sentence under state law.

Minor, who had Edward J. Dundon as counsel, was brought into court by the prosecuting attorney, John V. Zanardi.

He was arrested at 9:30 p. m. on Wednesday, July 2, on the complaint of the mother of a five-year-old girl.

Minor, according to the story of the mother, took the little girl with him to the rear of the Eagle Produce building, 205 West A street.

The mother, informed by her daughter's small friends that they had seen her walking toward town with a strange man, went in search of the pair.

She told police she heard her daughter scream and ran to the back of the Eagle building, where she found the little girl with a man later identified as Minor.

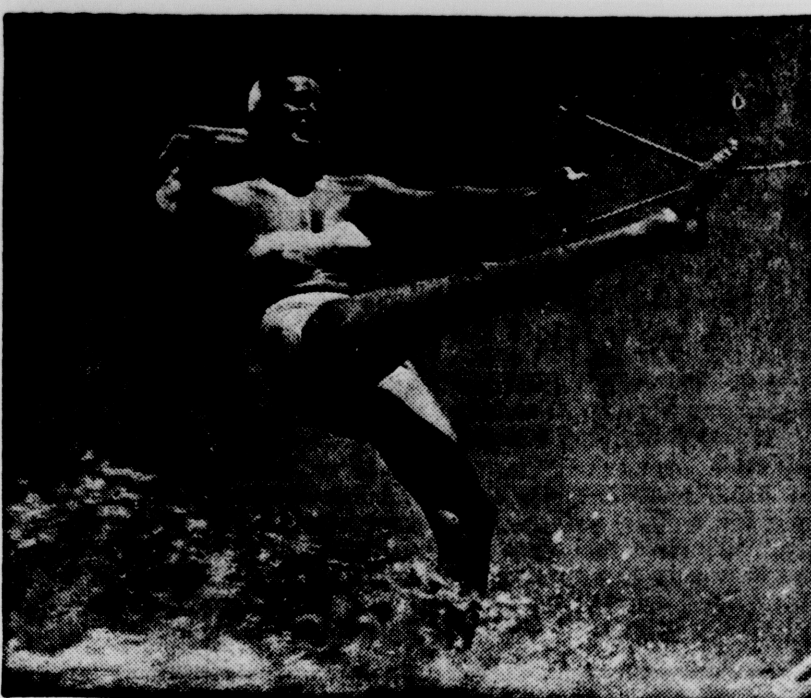

The child was badly frightened, but a medical examination showed that she had not been molested.

Sergeant Frank Pipp and Patrolman Vance Sparapan, summoned by the little girl's mother, patrolled the streets in that area and arrested Minor at the rear of the American Inn.

He was identified by the girl. Minor, when arraigned before Judge Perino the morning of July 3, was charged with a high misdemeanor—which meant he would have been tried in circuit court. He asked for an examination, which was held Friday.

When Minor was taken before Judge Perino Friday, Zanardi moved in open court for a reduction of the charge from a high misdemeanor to a simple misdemeanor.

The defendant then entered a plea of guilty, as charged, and was sentenced.

Fast and furious and full of tricks, the world's greatest galaxy of water ski champions and boat drivers are streaking this way to present what has been hailed as the greatest water spectacle in the country. This cast, which has amazed audiences from Maine to Miami, has more medals per performer than any other group of aqua artists.

This season, for the first time, one of the most thrilling events ever conceived will be featured in conjunction with the show. The Champions will run racing shells powered by Mercury engines over 6-foot high jumps and hurtle through the air for distances up to 50 feet before coming into contact with the water again. This is truly a rodeo on water as members of the cast straddle the cockpits of their small but mighty boats and execute unbelievable maneuvers.

Bees Rout Faithful At Episcopal Church

WESTMINSTER, Md. — (P) — Hundreds of honeybees, holding their own after two bomb attacks, forced the congregation of the Ascension Episcopal church to move services into the parish house Sunday.

The bees were found in the sacristy of the historic church last Friday. Two insecticide bombs were set off and dead bees rained down on the pews.

But swarms of the insects survived and the Rev. Austin F. Schildwachter moved his Sunday services. An exterminator is scheduled to oust the bees.

World War III May Cost Four Trillion

SAN DIEGO, Calif. — (P) — A Navy economics expert estimates it would cost the United States almost four trillion dollars to fight on all-out third World War. Comdr. John W. Seager of the Navy Supply Corps, who is a member of the Industrial College in Washington, said in a recent interview here that each major war the United States has fought has cost roughly 10 times more than the previous one. World War II cost 383 billion dollars, Seager says.

Ike's Wife, Mamie, And His Own Mother Helped Shape His Life

(This is the second of three articles on General Eisenhower, the Republican nominee for President of the United States.)

By WADE JONES
NEA Staff Correspondent
CHICAGO — (NEA) — One of Dwight D. Eisenhower's first and best boyhood friends, R. G. Tonkin, of San Antonio, Tex., gives these reasons for Ike's success: "His passion for work; his grin, and Mamie (his wife)."

Others are inclined to include high up on any such list the training Ike got at home—long hours of hard work and an atmosphere of gentleness and religion which have given him a deep sense of spiritual values which today affect much that he says and does.

Ike was born David Dwight Eisenhower on Oct. 14, 1890, at Denison, Tex. Two years later the family moved to Abilene and later still his mother switched his first two names around because she disliked nicknames and thought Dwight as a first name would be less susceptible to shortening than David.

He is of German stock on both sides of his family. Both his father and mother were deeply religious. His father was a leader of the River Brethren sect of the Mennonites, and his mother, an ardent and life-long pacifist, eventually joined Jehovah's Witnesses.

There were seven Eisenhower children, all boys, and four of them, besides the General, are still alive. They are Milton, president of Pennsylvania State College; Arthur B., a Kansas City banker; Edgar N., an attorney in Tacoma, Wash.; and Earl D., a Charleroi (Pa.) mining engineer.

Ike's father worked in Abilene as a mechanic at a creamery, and the family was poor. Ike once had to wear his mother's high button shoes to school.

Speaking of his parents, Ike has said recently, "And they were frugal, possibly of necessity, because I have found out in later years we were very poor, but the glory of America is that we didn't know it then."

BACKGROUND: Ike still reflects much that his mother said.

Another of those contradictions in Ike's life, this one with a heavy touch of irony, came up when the future general was whipped by his war-hating mother for playing soldier. Alden Hatch tells about it in his book, "General Ike."

"You see," she told Ike, not yet in his teens, "I remember that other war, though I was only five when it ended. We were Virginians, but Father held to the Union side. He believed that the North was right, and that slavery was all wrong. So all our neighbors suspected us.

"Once, toward the end, Confederate soldiers stormed through our house looking for my older brother."

"When the Yankees finally came, they weren't any better. That's the way war makes men, like cruel animals. They seem to forget our Lord and his teaching of love. Christ forbid that you boys should ever grow like that."

She didn't know then and her little son didn't know that a little more than 10 years from then he would be embarking on a military career at West Point and that she would cry about it. But she knew 10 years later that West Point was perhaps the only way her son could get an education, so she dried her tears and said bravely, "Splendid. I knew you could do it."

And the strangely unwarlike Eisenhower still reflects much that his mother believed with statements like: "Total war would be the suicide of our generation. We must train the youth of America to avert World War III, not re-fight World War II. Bellicosity is the hallmark of insecurity."

Ike, like his brothers, worked extremely hard as a boy in the often futile race to make ends meet. He helped his mother with the washing, cleaning, woodcutting and cooking. He still likes to cook and is pretty good at it.

But there was still some time to play and Ike was good at sports. Later, at West Point, he was a star halfback until he injured his knee severely. Today he's a good golfer and shoots in the low 80's.

Ike, who had always been good in English and history, wanted to get an education somewhere —

he didn't care too much just where—so he took the Kansas examinations for both Annapolis and West Point.

He got the appointment to Annapolis, but learned to his dismay that by the time he entered the Naval Academy he would be over its age limit. Then, fortunately for him, the top man in the West Point exam failed to pass his physical exam, and Ike got the appointment.

He graduated from the Point in 1915, ranking 61st in scholarship in a class of 164. In conduct, he wasn't so good, ranking 95th. He got several demerits for oversleeping and swearing. Classmate Omar Bradley stood sixth in conduct.

During his first couple of years at the Point, Ike gave no indication that he would follow a military career after graduation. What decided him is not definitely known.

A year after he got out of the Point, Ike married Mamie Geneva Doud, daughter of a prominent

Before You Choose Baby-Sitter Know Her Background

By EDRIE VAN DORE
NEA Service Writer
HARTFORD, CONN. — (NEA) —

The person who employs a baby-sitter has certain very definite responsibilities toward the sitter, the sitter's parents and her own children.

She should know, first of all, what kind of home the sitter comes from, who her parents are, how old she is, her general state of health, and what previous experience she has had or families she has worked for.

If the girl is new at babysitting, the employer should ask about her general reputation and disposition. No child who has ever shown any inclination toward meanness or cruelty should be hired as a baby-sitter.

Generally speaking, sitters of 15 and 16, high school or college students are preferred. If younger children are employed, there should be some other responsible person within reach—a neighbor or their own parents.

The sitter should be told what time she is to arrive, and what time you will return home. If you cannot get there at that time, telephone her. She should be taken home or invited to spend the night, in which case her own mother must be notified.

Vital Information

You must tell the sitter where you are going and give her the telephone number plus seat numbers if your destination is a play or concert.

See that your doctor's telephone number is written down where she can see it easily, even in a panic, and the number also of some other close relative. We hope she won't need it, but let it be there if she does.

It's nice but not necessary to leave your teen-age sitter a little snack of something, or tell her what she may have out of the ice-box. She will appreciate it. This is hospitality to a guest—it is not part of her pay, and she should be paid promptly at the end of the evening. Don't ask her to wait until the next time. It isn't fair. If you can't afford to pay a sitter, don't have one.

The sitter will take it for granted that she can use the radio or television; caution her against turning them up too loud. Tell her whether or not she can bring a girl-friend, but ask her not to entertain boys or a crowd of young folks. Your home is no place for her to have a party.

Never engage a sitter who has a cold or any other illness. You'd do better staying home than to expose your children to sickness.

If your children are ill, be sure to consult the sitter's mother before asking the girl to come. A teen-ager who hasn't had measles or mumps may contract them from small children.

Don't coax a sitter to come and care for your children on a school night unless you have a bed or cot where she may go to bed at her regular hour. Even this is not recommended. Teenagers are sound sleepers and not too apt to waken if a baby cries or an accident occurs.

Don't expect too much of the baby sitter: If you want her to wash dishes or do housework, she should be given extra money for it.

Teach your children to respect the sitter and do what she tells them to. She may make mistakes—if she does, tell her so privately not in front of the children. For them, she must represent your authority, which is not open to question.

Shirley Fournier Is The Bride Of Warren Gustafson

Bethany Ev. Lutheran Church, shasta daisies, gladioli and snapdragons arranged with its lighted cathedral tapers, was the setting for the wedding Saturday, July 12, of Miss Shirley Fournier, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest J. Fournier of Ford River Road, and Warren R. Gustafson. The double ring service was solemnized at 3 p. m. by the Rev. Gustav Lund.

Imported French Chantilly lace over net and taffeta fashioned the floor length bridal gown. The jewel neckline detailed with a scroll effect of lace set off the snug fitting bodice, the sleeves were long and tapering to points at the wrist and the bouffant overskirt was scalloped at the hemline revealing two wide ruffles of net. The bride's fingertip veil of French illusion with a rolled edge was secured by a Juliet cap of satin in lattice design centered by tiny seed pearls. Her jewelry was a single strand of pearls. She carried white carnations and roses.

Attendants In Pastel Shades

A combination of frosted orange and net over lavender taffeta was worn by the maid of honor, Miss Delores Humphrey of Porterfield, Wis., the bride's roommate at Bellin Memorial Hospital School of Nursing. The bridesmaids, Miss Patricia LaFave of Little Suamico, Wis., and Miss Jean Ohm of Wausau, classmates of the bride, were in white or orange and net over pastel green and pink. The gowns were styled with snug fitting bodices, orange jackets and bouffant skirts. All three wore large matching picture hats of sweetheart shape with open crowns, and net mits. They carried colonial bouquets of rubrum lilies.

Mr. Gustafson who is a son of Mr. and Mrs. E. Reynold Gustafson, 1711 1st Ave. S., had John Beaumier as his best man. Don Christensen and John Gustafson were groomsmen and ushers were Donald Koers of Detroit and Edwin J. Goers of Dundee, Ill., his brothers-in-law.

Prelude of Organ Music. For the ceremony Mrs. Fournier wore an aqua dress of lace and linen with white accessories. Mrs. Gustafson wore raspberry linen with navy accessories. Their corsages were pink and white carnations.

Don Aronson, organist, played a 15-minute prelude as the guests were assembling, his selections including "Traumerel", "I Love You Truly", "Afterglow" and "The Wedding Song." Donald Belanger was soloist. He sang "Liebes-traum" "Because" and as the couple knelt at the altar, "I Love Thee."

The wedding reception for 200 guests was held immediately following the service in the church parlors. The serving table was covered with a cloth of forest green over which was white net. A low bowl of snapdragons and lilies centered it, arranged with figurines, and white tapers were at either end. Miss Lois Sodermark, a cousin of the bride, and Miss Nancy Flath, a classmate, presided at the silver service. The bride's aunt, Mrs. Alma Zimmerman of Chicago, served the wedding cake. Assisting were officers of Bethel 9, Job's Daughters of which the bride is a past honored queen, Ann Plucker, Betty Cox, Lois Hansen and Mary Ellen McMeekan.

Wedding Dinner. The wedding dinner for the bridal party and immediate family members was served at Terrace Gardens. The newlyweds left for a brief honeymoon at an unannounced destination. For traveling the bride wore a navy blue suit with navy accessories and a corsage of red roses. The new Mrs. Gustafson is returning to Bellin Memorial Hospital where she will be graduated Aug. 1. After taking her state board she will join her husband, who is in the United States Air Force, stationed at Camp Stoneman, Calif.

Wedding guests included Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Goers and daughter Kristine of Dundee, Ill., Mr. and Mrs. Donald Koers and children Randy and Sandy of Detroit, Mrs. Alma Zimmerman of Chicago, Mrs. Ann Fuller of Lansing, Carl A. Nelson of New York City, Ephraim Fournier, Celf Fournier, Mr. and Mrs. A. Spegarelli, and Mrs. Janette Lillbuck of Iron Mountain; and Delores Schmidt, Arlene Fischer, Marion Rosenous, Vivian Behrendt, Shirley Johnson and Larry Knapp of Green Bay.

An attractive way to serve canned beans is to empty them into a bean pot and heat them in the oven. Sliced tomatoes and cucumbers on a bed of cole slaw make a fine accompaniment to the beans.

Good Sunday night supper dish: Hollow out tomatoes and stuff with canned baked beans. Put a small square of bacon on top of each tomato and bake in a hot oven until thoroughly hot—about fifteen minutes.

For convenience and economy make sure that any drapery material you buy is sudfast, sunfast, shrink resistant, and heavy enough to hang gracefully.

New Fabrics Need Special Handling

By GAILE DUGAS

NEA Woman's Editor

NEW YORK—(NEA)—Finding out just how a fabric will act in the tub and on the ironing board is an important part of stretching the wardrobe dollar in this year of high living costs.

Among the fabrics least understood by the most women, rayon and acetate rank high. Few women realize that the two take a totally different handling and that when the two yarns are used in combination the procedure for acetate is the right to use.

Rayon, for instance, can take heat without melting and therefore can be ironed with a hot iron. Similarly, it can be safely washed in hot water.

But acetate, which women tend to confuse with rayon, will "fuse" if a hot iron descends upon it. This means that acetate gets a warm—never a hot—iron. And it follows that acetate must be handled with care in washing. Water must be lukewarm and the soap mild.

Acetate dries faster than rayon but it is also less absorbent, which means that rayon is somewhat more comfortable to wear. The two fabrics are equally and wholly moth-resistant and neither one deteriorates with age. Both retain their whiteness without need for bleaching.

Acetate is the fabric (left) used by Filcol for a dress with bolero jacket that slips off for dressy occasions. Trapunto work in an all-over pattern is used for surface interest.

Carolyn Schnurer uses rayon and acetate in combination (right) for this flowing crepe with sweeping, pleated skirt. Done in a light weight, it's a fashion rightly designed for wear through summer.

Area Supplies Staff Members For Camp Timber Trail

Members of the competent staff at Timber Trail, summer camp for Girl Scouts near Munising, which opened last week with a full registration, include a number of experienced leaders from this area.

Miss Helen Wils of Rapid River is assistant to Miss Virginia Nielson of Northbrook, Ill., camp director. This is Miss Wils' fifth year at Timber Trail. Another Rapid River member is Pat Wils, kitchen assistant, who is serving her second year.

Among the leaders of the various units are: Lucy Baum, Escanaba, a four year camper and three year staff member; Doris Malnor, Rapid River, first year and Carol Leiper, Escanaba, four year camper with three years on the staff.

The present camping session ends Saturday, July 19, and will be followed by four one-week periods, July 20-26, July 27-August 2, August 3-9 and August 10-16.

The latter two weeks first were scheduled as a two-week period and some Scouts have signed up for that time. It was found to be expedient, however, to hold two single camping periods instead. There still are some vacancies in the last single week period and interested girls may contact Mrs. Mary Spear Ross, 445 East Ridge St., Marquette, registrar.

ENGAGED — Mr. and Mrs. Sam Burns of Germfask announce the engagement of their daughter, Lawella, to Duane A. Gelster, son of Mr. and Mrs. K. F. Gelster of West Point, Nebr. Miss Burns has been employed as a laboratory and x-ray technician at Memorial Hospital in West Point since March of 1951. No date has been set for the wedding.

Horses For Thailand Are From Australia

SINGAPORE—(AP)—Forty-five Australian horses—replacements for Thailand's (Siam's) Royal Cavalry—arrived here aboard the freighter, Carpentaria, and began an overland railway journey to Bangkok.

Australian stockman and horse-breaker, Pat Rice, who accompanied the consignment, said: "Horses have a short life in Thailand (Siam) because of unsuitable grasses. Mounts for the Royal Cavalry have to be constantly replaced."

Staked tomatoes which need pruning should be inspected every other day during the early summer, otherwise branches which should be pruned may grow too big.

Postpone Wedding Bells Until You're Very Sure

By Elizabeth B. Hurlock, Ph.D.

When a bride-to-be has any doubts in her mind about her marriage, the best course of action is to stop and think before going ahead with the plans. That is the advice this bride-to-be should follow if she wants to avoid trouble for herself in the future:

(Q) "I am 22 and am planning to be married in a few months. I love the man I am engaged to. He's wonderful to me and so is his family. Now I have just got word from the man I once was in love with for many years, asking me if I would change my mind and go back to him. Right now, I feel sure of myself but I wouldn't want to go through with something as important as marriage and then later be sorry for it. Please give me some advice."

(A) By all means, hold up your plans for your wedding until you are absolutely sure that you are doing the right thing by marrying your fiancé. Nothing would be more unfair than to go ahead with your plans with the doubt you now have in your mind.

Perhaps you have a romantic memory of the other man which is making you wonder if you still love him now. If you really loved him, why did you stop seeing him and why did you go with another man enough to become engaged? If he loved you, he would not have put himself out of your life long enough to enable you to become engaged to someone else.

Ask this man to see you. Does he know you are engaged and planning to marry someone else? If not, tell him before he comes so he won't get a shock on your first meeting. If he already knows about your plans, he is a poor sport to try to enter your life again after dropping you.

As for the man you are engaged to, I suggest that you do not mention this matter to him now. You are unsure of your feelings, so why upset him unnecessarily? After seeing and talking to the other man, if you decide that you still love him and would rather marry him than your fiancé, then will be the time to break the news to your fiancé. As the matter now stands, it may be merely a romantic memory and nothing else.

Sewing Skill Leads To Designing Plastics

CLEVELAND—(AP)—Mrs. John T. Leach's interest in sewing has resulted in her combining a family with a career as director of design and research for a plastic products company in Akron, O.

She got into the work after friends urged her to present a clothespin apron design to a manufacturer. She was hired and now designs such items as aprons, raincoats, curtains and cosmetic case-stoles.

Mrs. Leach leaves a temporary housekeeper in charge of her two young children when she commutes to work.

Barehead Fad Is Problem To Paris Hatmakers

By NADEANE WALKER

PARIS—French hat-makers are facing the darkest times their industry has known since Marie Antoinette dealt them a low blow by popularizing towering hatless hairdos in the 18th Century.

That time, the crisis blew over and women went back to wearing hats as enthusiastically as ever. This time, encouraged by history's example, the hatmakers have organized to try to stem the tide of hatlessness which engulfs them.

Modern hatmakers blame the war for getting women in the habit of going bareheaded. Some blame the bad example set by American tourists, who often manage to look chic without hats.

Time was when no Paris housewife would have set foot on the street without being properly hatted and gloved, even if she were only on her way to the baker for a loaf. The hat-makers, backed up by fashion dictators, still sternly insist that a woman of style should never be seen dead without a chapeau. You might as well step out without shoes as to be bareheaded in public, they hint darkly.

Partly to blame But, faced by statistics and dwindling sales, the hatmakers' syndicates must sadly admit that times have changed. Among the crowds that stroll down the Champs-Elysees in warm Spring weather, hardly more than one woman in ten wears a hat.

If the public has decided that hats are frivolities and not necessities, the hat designers themselves are at least partly at fault, admits Monsieur Paul Gallien, secretary-general of the hat-makers' syndicate.

By bringing out mad creations that nobody could possibly take seriously, they have literally out-smarted themselves. Of course, it's the daffy chapeau that always gets splashed in the papers, but a hat that people can laugh at does the industry a disservice, thinks Monsieur Gallien.

Change Is Boomerang

Another boomerang launched by the hatmakers themselves is the idea that hat styles must change completely every season. Every woman knows that last year's bonnet is as demode as a last year's bird's nest. But when the budget is tight, the result may be that a hat is knocked off in favor of something that lasts longer than a season.

Women who thus lose the habit of hat-wearing may be a headache to the hatmakers, but their worst worry, according to Monsieur Gallien, is the younger generation's scornful attitude towards headgear.

"Just think of it — some of them have never owned a hat!" When the Duchess of Windsor was photographed not long ago wearing only a net over her hair, some hat-makers howled. But Monsieur Gallien thinks they can no longer afford to quibble. "Even a net or flowers is better than nothing at all. We're willing to count nearly anything worn on the head as a hat."

Beret Most Popular

The beret, in its myriad disguises, is by far the most popular headgear for both sexes in France. It has almost come to be a symbol of the Frenchman, but its hold on the country does not go back as far as most people imagine. Part of the Basque native dress, it only spread to the rest of France some twenty years ago, replacing the workman's traditional cloth cap.

Part of the beret's popular appeal is the fact that it can be found to fit any pocketbook—from the workman's cheap felt model at a few hundred francs to the bejeweled velvet cocktail number for the wealthy woman of fashion.

In all, some 4,000 new hat models are launched every year by Paris' twenty "modistes" (custom hatmakers, as opposed to "chapelliers" who turn out wholesale reproductions). Hat seasons precede dress seasons by about a week, to take advantage of foreign buyers' presence.

Last year the "chapelleries" did fifteen billion francs worth of business, and the "modistes' annual sales amounted to seventeen billions (both figures include exports). This is an improvement over the earlier postwar years.

With Roy Crandall

Rain called a halt to a nice ball game at Bark River yesterday. The Bears owned a 2-1 edge in the top of the sixth when the down-pour finally put a stop to play. For Manager Jack Beck's boys it was the sixth straight and the win gave them first place in the standings. It's the first time Escanaba has been alone at the top of the heap this season.

Jack Chriske stretched his winning streak to four games in the Tri County play. In 38 innings he has allowed only one earned run, which gives him a mighty respectable ERA average. Pete Kutches had a perfect day at the plate with three singles in three trips. He's still batting up around .500.

A former Escanaban, Harry Henken, is making a name for himself in tennis circles with the United States Army in Germany. The son of Jacob Henken, 1110 10th Ave. S., Harry recently survived an elimination tournament to make the Wiesbaden Military Post team. Harry is an Air Force navigator.

Red Ruffing, the former major league pitcher and long ball hitter, recently addressed a large group of Little Leaguers in Green Bay. "What do you think it takes to make a good ball player?" Ruffing queried of the young fry. "Wheaties," a half-dozen of the kids yelled back.

Larry Bartell, who will conduct an umpire school here next Saturday, got his start in Legion Junior baseball in Oshkosh, Wis. A possible major league career was snuffed out when Bartell entered military service in 1942. An injury in the service made it impossible for him to continue playing after the war.

Al's Legion Trims Bark River By 15-3

Al's Bark River league-leaders swamped Bark River in Waubung action yesterday, winning 15-3.

Lawrence Sauvey, Al's 14-year-old rookie hurler, made his American Legion debut an impressive one. He fanned three and walked two while scattering three hits in five innings. Southpaw Dick Cass came on in the sixth and held the Bears to one hit while whiffing five in three innings.

Al's bombarded 15 hits off the slants of Wayne Erickson with Bill Maycunich, catcher, leading the

Larsen Winner On Clay Courts

CHICAGO—(AP)—Take your eye off unpredictable Art Larsen and he does something smashing, like winning the National Clay Courts singles and doubles titles yesterday.

The 27-year-old Larsen, from San Leandro, Calif., gave the Davis Cup committee of the U. S. L. T. A. something to think about as he met in New York today to line up the newest American Cup squad.

In winning his first clay courts crown in four years of trying, Larsen caught fire for a 4-6, 6-4, 6-2, 6-4 victory over top-seeded Dick Savitt of Orange, N. J., out-ranked nationally only by Vic Seixas.

Larsen, who will kill you with anything but politeness on the courts, also teamed with Grant Golden of Wilmette, Ill., to whip NCAA champion Hugh Stewart of San Marino, Calif., and Noel Brown, Los Angeles, 6-2, 6-4, 8-6 for the doubles title.

Larsen, sixth-ranked nationally, was second-seeded in the clay courts test at River Forest Tennis Club. He came up this time with his usual display of temperament. In the semi-finals, he refused to continue until a photographer was wheeled away from the sidelines.

Top-seeded Anita Kanter of Modesto, Calif., took the women's singles crown with a 6-4, 6-3 victory over fourth-seeded Lucille Davidson, Lee's Summit, Mo.

Whitfield May Seek Triple Olympic Win

MELBINKI — (AP)—The 15th modern Olympics veered sharply from ceremony to preliminary competition today, six days before the official opening, and the United States primed Mal Whitfield for a possible iron man triple in the ancient games.

Coach Brutus Hamilton of the American track and field forces said he planned to use Whitfield in the 1,600-meter relay if the former Ohio State star's leg muscle is healed.

Whitfield, an Air Force sergeant who has flown numerous missions in the Korean campaign, already is entered in the 400 meters and the 800 meters. He won the 800-meter championship in 1948.

Draws For Heats "Whit has to run three 800 meter races and four 400 meter races counting the trials and finals," the coach said. "But he runs effortlessly. I think he can do it."

The important draw for heats in the track and field events was scheduled today. It is being watched with particular interest since it may bring an early show of American and Russian strength.

Eliminations also were to begin today in basketball, with the knotty Chinese problem still unsettled.

Neither Nationalist China nor

Bears Tip Bark River 2-1, Take League Lead

The Escanaba Bears returned from Bark River last evening with a 2-1 victory and first place in the Tri County league standings.

Manager Jack Beck's Bears entered the game trailing the Bark River by a half-game in the standings. Escanaba now holds the same margin over Bark River.

Elks Win On One-Hitter

Elks hurler Bud Besson fired a one-hitter to blank Delta Hardware 5-0 in Saturday's Pony League feature clash.

Besson put the third strike past 11 Delta batters. His mates combined Bill Ranguette for nine safeties. Pug Doucette caught for the winners, Jim Brown for the losers. Billy Bolm and Oliver Swanson led Elks at the plate with two hits apiece.

An extra-inning game saw AFL Unions edge Insurance Association 5-4 in nine frames. Gauthier's topped Kiwanis 5-1 in the remaining game.

A meeting of managers of Pony League teams will be held at Memorial Field Tuesday night at 7:30. Selection of league all-star players will be made.

Each manager will submit the names of five all-star candidates and the field of 30 will be pared down to 15 at the Tuesday meeting.

The all-stars will compete in the district tournament at Joliet, Ill., next month. Regional tournament will follow at Chicago, Ill.

Middlecoff Wins St. Paul Open

ST. PAUL, Minn.—(AP)—The dentist's office in Memphis with Cary Middlecoff's name on the door is going to stay empty a while longer.

About ten days ago Middlecoff, feeling stale, considered deserting the tournament golf circuit for a while to go back to his office. He changed his mind and, as a result, is $4,800 richer today.

His play during the first couple of days of the Motor City Open in Detroit helped change his mind. He won that tournament and $2,400.

Yesterday he scored his second straight victory—shooting a record-tying 72-hole 268 to take top money of $2,400 in the St. Paul open over the Keller course.

Putting brilliantly, Middlecoff added a 66 yesterday to his 65-68—133 to tie the record for four rounds set last year at Keller by Lloyd Mangrum, Chicago.

Sam Snead, White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., pocketed $1,800 when he added a 67 to his earlier rounds of 66-66—72 for a 72-hole total of 271.

Henry Ransom, St. Andrews, Ill., co-leader with 64 the first day, and leader at 130 after two days, finished a stroke behind Snead to win $1,400.

Best round of the final day—a 64 by Skeet Riegel, Tulsa, Okla.—gave him 274 and a tie with Roberto De Vicenzo, Buenos Aires, for fourth. Each won $1,100.

Water Polo Tough Sport

MELBINKI — (AP)—Olympic water polo crews are readying for another season of socks and splashes, and bring the adhesive tape this way, please.

Water polo, possibly so named because everybody works like a horse at it, is listed as a minor sport and usually attracts only the players and the mayhem-minded.

For it is a game largely based on muscle and the rules seem to have a good deal of latitude—especially when a referee can't see what goes on under the surface.

There are some water polo fans who contend the rules are strict, although a looser school charges only a drawn knife is prohibited.

The United States has not done too well in Olympic water polo but this year hopes are up again.

Seven young men from El Segundo, Calif., who went to high school together, carry America's Olympic banner.

They look scrub-eared, and talk in modulated voices. But they are tough cookies in the waves.

In the 1948 Olympics, the U. S. was represented largely by a group of Los Angeles policemen with brawny hands.

In one or two games their opponents were sinking like torpedoed rowboats. The Belgians inquired politely of spectators at the pool-side just who was whose ally, anyhow.

And the Italians won the crown.

Righthander Jack Chriske handcuffed the Bears with four hits. He fanned one, walked one and hit a batter in five innings. The game was delayed by rain and interrupted once by a steady downpour.

Load Bases

The Bears loaded the bases in the first inning and moved ahead with one run when Pete Kutches, who had singled, scored from third on a passed ball. After Kutches was safe on a roller to first base that hit the bag and bounced away from Don Paulin, Bark River hurler Joe Rademacher issued walks to Babe Kleiman and Jim Nyquist.

With Tippy Larmay at bat, the Bears attempted to squeeze the runner in from third. Larmay swung at the third pitch, missed the ball and Kutches barreled in standing up when Dave Kwarciany let the pitch through to the backstop. Rademacher got out of trouble by fanning Paul Gunderman for the third out.

The Bears made it 2-0 in the top of the fifth. Kutches led off with his third straight single. Kleiman singled and Nyquist walked. Larmay

Lone Game Played In Tri County Loop

Rain drew a hand in the Tri County League schedule yesterday and washed out all but one of the slated games.

In the lone game spared by dripping skies, the Escanaba Bears defeated Bark River 2-1 in five innings to take over the top spot in the standings.

Games forced out by the weather were Foster City at Wilson, Perronville at Stephenson, Wallace at Daggett and Perronville at Daggett in a makeup clash.

Tim & Sally's Posts 16-8 Win

Rain halted the second game of a doubleheader here yesterday after Tim & Sally's had scored enough runs to win two games while defeating the Negaunee VFW girls 16-8 in the opener.

Carol Pilon started on the mound for Tim & Sally's and had a shutout for four innings. She was relieved by Patsy Willette, newcomer to pitching duties, who worked well on the mound but was the victim of poor support.

Two Willette strikeout victims reached first base on third strikes dropped by the catcher and five errors in the infield and two in the outfield gave the visitors a 9-8 lead in the fifth.

Pilon came back to the hill in the sixth and held Negaunee scoreless while her mates ran up eight more tallies in the last two innings.

Theresa Choquette went the distance for Negaunee, allowing 19 hits.

Call Zernial, Shantz And Fain Unholy Trio

PHILADELPHIA — (AP)—Ozark Ike, Mighty Mite and the Burthead they call 'em. You can supply any descriptive you like, but to seven American League ball clubs these characters are the unholy trio.

This package of human baseball terror are known as Gus Zernial, Bobby Shantz, and Ferris Fain.

The punch of an otherwise punyless Philadelphia A's team.

Put Shantz on the mound and either Fain or Zernial in the batter's box and some sort of catalytic agent sets them afire. The net product of this fusion: The best pitching in the majors and home runs.

Take yesterday for instance. Shantz spun a seven-hit shutout against the Chicago White Sox to rack up his 15th win of the season against three losses — far and away the best record in the may sent Kutches home with a single. Gunderman flied to left field and Ed Lindquist fanned. Another squeeze play fizzled with Lindquist at bat and Kleiman was tagged at the plate.

Barks Get Run Manager Leo Knauf's Barks came to life in the bottom of the sixth in which they scored their lone run. With one out and rain threatening, Tippy Legault was safe on a low throw to first by Gunderman. He rode home on a slashing double by Rademacher.

Wickstrom belted a sinking liner to right field and Rademacher raced from second with what was labeled the tying run. But Lindquist's throw was perfect to the plate and Nyquist put the tag on a sliding Rademacher.

The Bears had a runner on first with two out when the game was called in the top of the sixth.

Rizzuto slammed out his seventh three-bagger yesterday as the Yanks won two from Detroit. This left Phil one behind Simpson.

Little League Pitching Duel

Leading pitchers in the Escanaba Jaycee Little League will tangle tonight, weather permitting, when Kiwanis meets Lions at 6:30.

Bob Stropich and Ken Schwalbach will be the opposing mounds-men. Schwalbach tuned up for tonight's game with a two-inning relief stint Saturday in which he fanned five batsmen. Stropich has had a full week's rest since registering a one-hitter last week.

First half play will be completed this week and if the game cannot be played tonight it will be rescheduled for Wednesday. Tuesday St. Joe Boosters will play Rotary in a doubleheader.

In Saturday's games Bob Anderson scattered four hits over the route to give Rotary a 3-1 win over Lions. Gene Seguin tossed a three-hitter at St. Joe to give Kiwanis a 17-2 victory.

NEW YORK — (AP)—Yankee shortstop Phil Rizzuto is only a little guy, and he hasn't hit a home run this season. But when it comes to banging out triples, the Scooter is second only to Cleveland's Henry Simpson. Rizzuto slammed out his seventh three-bagger yesterday as the Yanks won two from Detroit. This left Phil one behind Simpson.

Blues Maintain Association Lead

(By The Associated Press) The American Association may have a two-team pennant race between Kansas City and Milwaukee, but the battle is lively for the show spot.

In yesterday's twin bills, St. Paul nudged into a third-place tie with Louisville, copping two from the Colonels, 8-5 and 6-5.

Meanwhile, Indianapolis was dumped out of the first division into fifth spot, a game and a half out of third, as the Tribe dropped two to Minneapolis, 6-3 and 6-5.

The Millers, although in sixth place, are only four games out of third spot.

Pace-setting Kansas City kept its 3½ game lead over runner-up Milwaukee by splitting at Columbus, 7-12 and 8-7, while the Brewers were dividing at Charleston, 11-6 and 2-5.

The Brewers still have a 10-game bulge over Louisville and St. Paul.

Sophomore Bobby Hill won the University of Alabama's first Southeastern Conference golf championship this year with a two over par 290 for 72 holes.

Vic Raschi Heartbroken

NEW YORK — (AP)—Vic Raschi will always look back with misgivings at his 100th major league victory.

The 33-year-old Yankee right-hander yesterday came within four outs of hurling his first no-run, no-hit game in organized ball.

But one fatal pitch to Joe Ginsberg deprived him of the goal all pitchers seek.

Ginsberg, a light hitter, stepped to the plate with two out in the eighth inning. Raschi had just fanned Walt Dropp and Steve Souchock and had two strikes on the Detroit catcher.

Then he let loose with a fast ball right down the middle. Ginsberg connected and sent it into the right field stands about five or six rows deep. There was no doubt about the home run. Raschi took one look, picked up the rosin bag and flung it down disgustedly.

That it was the only safety made by the Tigers in their 11-1 loss to the Yankees, consoled Raschi not a bit. He was a heartbroken pitcher in the locker room after the game.

"I never had a no-hitter in my life," he said, "and I wanted that one more than anything in my life. I never had as good a chance as that before. I did my best to get it, but I'll never try again. It's too much of a letdown when you don't make it."

Ginsberg was hitting .185 when he came to bat in the eighth.

Shantz In 15th Win

By JOE REICHLER

(Associated Press Sports Writer)
Bobby Shantz, midjet southpaw of the Philadelphia Athletics, can:

1. Become the biggest winner in Philadelphia's American League history.

2. Become the first second division hurler in the past 50 years to lead his league in won and lost percentage.

3. Become the first 30-game winner in the majors in 18 years and the first American League pitcher to reach that total in 21 years.

Shantz spun a seven-hit, 6-0 shutout yesterday as the Athletics split a doubleheader with the Chicago White Sox. The Sox took the second, 7-4. It was Bobby's third shutout and his 16th complete game in 18 starts. He has won 15 and lost three.

Vic Raschi

Record Is 31

The 5-7 lightweight from Pottsville, Pa., has a chance to equal or better the highest total of victories ever racked up by a Philadelphia hurler, Jack Coombs of the Athletics and Lefty Bob Grove of the 1931 club each notched 31 triumphs.

Grove, incidentally, was the last of eight American League hurlers to win 30 or more in one season. Dizzy Dean was the last major league pitcher to accomplish it. He won 30 for the 1934 St. Louis Cardinals.

Only one pitcher hurling for a second division club ever led the American circuit in a won and lost basis. He was Bill Bernhard who won 18 and lost five for the fifth-place Cleveland Indians of 1902.

Shantz was not the only pitcher to shine yesterday. Vic Raschi came within four outs of pitching a no-run, no-hit game for New York as the Yankees twice overcame the Detroit Tigers, 11-1 and 12-2.

Raschi had two out and two strikes on Myron (Joe) Ginsberg in the eighth inning of the opener when the weak-hitting Tiger catcher blasted a 350-foot home run into the right field stands. It was the only hit of the game for the Tigers.

Yanks Get 31 Hits

In the twin bill, the Yankees rapped four Tiger pitchers for 31 hits. Mickey Mantle hit a homer in each game. Yogi Berra belted his 18th and Joe Collins his seventh for the Yanks.

Mike Garcia turned in a brilliant two-hitter for Cleveland in the opener as the Indians swept a doubleheader from Washington, 1-0 and 2-1, to remain 3½ games behind the pace-setting Yankees. Al Rosen's 17th home run, with Bobby Avila on base and two out in the eighth, gave the Indians the second game.

Maurice McDermott also hurled a two-hitter for Boston as the Red Sox took a pair from the St. Louis Cardinals.

Yesterday's Stars

Battling: Gus Zernial, Athletics, and Nellie Fox, White Sox—Zernial cranked a pair of home runs, one with bases loaded, to lead the Athletics to a 6-0, first-game victory over Chicago. Fox cracked seven hits in nine times at bat, getting five-for-five in the second game in the White Sox 7-4 nightcap win.

Pitching: Vic Raschi, Yankees—came within four outs of a no-hitter, yielding one hit—a two-out eighth-inning home run by Joe Ginsberg—as the Yankees whipped the Detroit Tigers, 11-1. The Yankees also won the second game, 12-2.

Sports Roundup

By ED CORRIGAN

(For Gayle Talbot)

NEW YORK—If Avery Brundage and all his co-workers on the United States Olympic committee don't have a good case of ulcers by now, they'll never have them.

The entire team of about 340 athletes is in Helsinki but just eight days ago—when virtually all the tryouts were—no one knew for sure just how much money was in the till or whether any of the hopefuls would have to be left home.

We talked to Brundage, a bespectacled, dignified Chicagoan who has been through the mill for his unshakable stand on amateurism, and he looked weary.

For months he had been talking up the fact that the United States needed funds to get the team across the Atlantic. He must have had a stock speech because he's been doing the same thing every four years for longer than he cares to remember.

"I suppose we'll get over the top, but it's the same old story," he sighed. "We never know until the last minute if we'll make it."

Mind you, this was some 24 hours before the team was scheduled to depart.

Well, it came as no surprise. In case you didn't know, the government does not subsidize the Olympic team in this country. In most other nations, the government whips it up for the team, then hands it a fistful of money and tells it to come back with plenty of medals.

There's no telling what the Russians have told their representatives. Maybe the winners go back

Browns, 8-5 and 4-0. The young lefthander fanned eight and walked two in the nightcap. Catcher Sammy White's 10th-inning homer with two out won the opener.

Gus Zernial provided Shantz with more runs than he needed, blasting a pair of home runs, one with the bases loaded. In the second game Nellie Fox paced the White Sox attack with five-for-five.

Braves Win Two

Philadelphia's Phillies moved to within four games of the fourth-place Cubs, whipping Chicago in a doubleheader, 7-3 and 9-2. Richie Ashburn led the Phils' six-hit attack in the two games with five safeties, including a double and triple.

Davey Williams' ninth-inning triple drove in two mates and gave the New York Giants a 4-2 nightcap win and a split in their twin bill with Cincinnati. The Reds, behind Harry Perkowsky's six-hit hurling, took the opener, 10-2.

Veteran Matt Surkont and rookie Virgil Jester pitched the Boston Braves to a 4-2 and 2-1 double win over Pittsburgh. Ralph Kiner saved the Pirates from a shutout in the opener, slamming his 15th homer with a man on base in the ninth.

The game between Brooklyn and the Cardinals in St. Louis was postponed because of rain.

Tigers Drubbed Twice By Yankees 11-1, 12-2

The Yankees proceeded to do the same thing yesterday.

In the first game of yesterday's doubleheader, the Tigers ran into trouble by the name of Vic Raschi. And it wasn't until two were out in the eighth inning that light-hitting Joe Ginsberg poled a home run for the first and only hit off the 33-year-old right-hander.

Mantle Homer

In the meantime Yankee batters found the offerings of loser Art Houtteman and Marlin Stuart to their liking and pounded out 18 hits, including home runs by Joe Collins, Yogi Berra and Mickey Mantle which gave Raschi an 11-1 victory.

Houtteman, who hasn't won a ball game since May 14, lost his eighth straight and his 12th of the season. He has won three games.

The Yankees came back again in the second game. They pulverized starter Hal Newhouse and Dick Littlefield for 12 runs on 13 hits, including Mantle's second homer of the day, to gain a 12-2 decision. Both Tiger runs were unearned. Yankee pitcher Tom Morgan, meanwhile held the Bengal batters to two runs on seven scattered hits.

Billy Hoert (0-3) goes against New York today. Rae Scarborough (1-4) will pitch for the Yankees.

SANTA ANA, Calif.—(AP)—Rudy Story, 23, proprietor of Santa Ana's Storyland Market, handles customer's orders so well many never notice his handicap.

Rudy was blinded when struck by a car years ago while in kindergarten. After graduating from high school with honors, Rudy started working in his father's market. Now, as long as everything is kept in its proper place, the young merchant has no trouble filling orders or making change.

However, Rudy says he still hasn't found a way to avoid asking the denominations of paper money.

Sculptress Does 'Impossible' Carving

VISALIA, Calif.—(AP)—Experts told Mrs. Hester Sibley it was impossible to hand-sculpture porcelain figures, but they were a little late with their advice—she had already made a hobby of it.

Porcelain is a little harder to work with than ceramic clay, said Mrs. Sibley, because it dries out faster and requires a higher temperature for baking. But she found nothing impossible about hand-sculpturing her beautiful figurines.

Her pieces of porcelain retain sharper detail than ceramics and also have a pleasing translucent appearance.

Stone Age Relics Found In Africa

(Editor's Note: Art Rosett, managing editor of the American edition of the Maroc-Presse, Casablanca, has written the following article on Stone Age carvings in Africa, exclusively for AP News-features.)

By ART ROSETT
AP News-features Writer
CASABLANCA, French Morocco—Ancient African rock carvings and implements that date from the Stone Age down to the time of Christ and a little later have been found on the River Draa, a quaint and tired stream that separates the Atlas Mountains from the Sahara Desert.

They show crudely formed camels, horses and antelopes, but most interesting are the carvings of men with spears and round shields charging into battle astride horses.

Archaeologists believe these are the latest drawings, dating perhaps from about 300 A. D. when a tribe of Phoenicians may have come in with new fighting techniques.

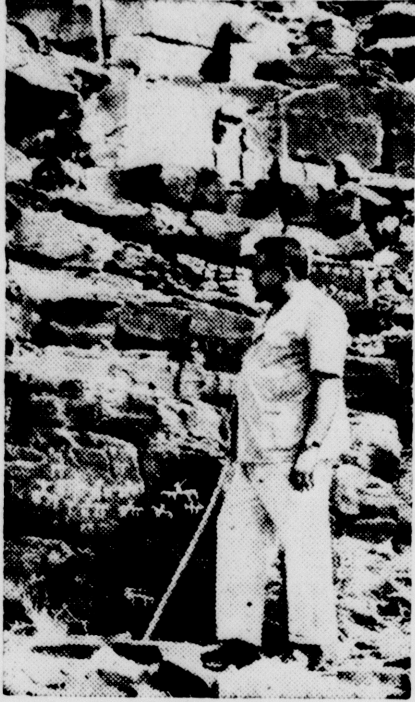

The River Draa empties into the Atlantic east of the Canary Islands, about 500 miles south of Casablanca. The drawings are in a mountain valley near the headwaters, 400 miles inland.

The valley where the drawings are found is itself a peculiar historical record of ancient peoples.

Visited Valley
I went there with Marcel Reine, an engineer and amateur archaeologist, who was one of a party which previously had charted the drawings and reported them to the resident general of Morocco on March 10. The report was prepared by Father Andre Glory, doctor of prehistory, formerly of the Universities of Toulouse and Strasbourg; Charles Allain, archaeologist attached to the Institute of Moroccan studies at Rabat, and Engineer Reine.

Reine believes the valley once was a great lake, formed by a volcanic dam which blocked the outlet. When it was at its highest level, Stone Age men moved down to the shore. Their grinding stones and stone cutting tools are still found on these ancient levels. Gradually the lake seeped away. As it lowered through the centuries, the ancient families followed it. Part way down, on one of the plateaus or benches formed by the lake, burial mounds have been opened showing implements of the Bronze Age period.

Drawings Deeply Etched
The drawings are scraped deeply into the flat surfaces of quartz-

ite rock walls bordering the valley. Some of the older and cruder drawings of the earlier peoples have tumbled from above to form a queer contrast with the better type of drawings of men on horses made by the later peoples.

In a report issued by the resident general, based on the official explorations, the Stone Age implements classified as from the Chellian epoch of the Old Stone Age. That is an early Stone Age period when a fine weapon was considered to be a rock held in the hand, or a rock attached to a stick. They hadn't got on to such refinements as bone daggers.

The later scratchings—showing men on horses and carrying spears and shields — perhaps date into Roman times.

With Reine, I left Zagora driving north on the road to Agdz. Reine pointed out ancient stone covered burial grounds on the plateaus. He said that they had excavated one on a lower plateau last year, and discovered various implements from the Bronze Age. He showed me erosion marks on the hills where the waters had been receding over the centuries. He also pointed out volcanic rock.

Drawings Found
In a pass between two wings of the plateaus we found drawings—quaint, delicate figures etched with infinite patience into the hard quartzite rocks.

Figures on the bottom rocks represented camels, horses, scorpions, snakes and shield-bearing warriors mounted astride horses in combat.

Sometimes the carvings had a certain sequence, as if a story were being told. Reine was of the opinion that these were done by a tribe of Phoenician origin during the Third Century.

With these were crude symbols of some half-formed script. They have not been deciphered.

Chinese Books Rapped For Being Pro-U. S.

HONG KONG—(AP)—The Chinese Communists have found "venomous worship of U. S. ideology" in a couple of their own geography texts.

The official Peoples Daily of Peking charges one book made the party-line error of saying the United States led in reserves and output of coal, oil and iron and was first in the production of copper, zinc and lead.

The newspaper rapped the second book for observing: "The rich mineral resources are the major factors in the U. S.'s success as a capitalist nation at the highest industrial level in the world."

Russian 'Hate America' Campaign Gets Results

By LEON DENNEN
NEA Staff Correspondent
PARIS—(NEA)— Though the Cominform has suffered recent setbacks in the West, Russia's "hate America" campaign is gaining ground among middle-of-the-road Europeans, a survey of four countries by NEA Service reveals.

In Britain, France, Italy and West Germany, increasing numbers are reported to believe the Kremlin's charge that the U. S. has resorted to "germ warfare" in Korea.

This is due in a large measure to the almost total lack of effective western counter-propaganda—either on the part of U. S. officials in Europe or any of the NATO powers.

Washington is reported to be spending fabulous sums of money for "information services" abroad. Hosts of U. S. public relations officials, psychological warfare experts and MSA representatives are seen everywhere in Europe. But the results of their "educational" efforts are hardly visible.

Meanwhile, Moscow's anti-U. S. drive is mounting in virulence. The Pravda recently printed a major article by Soviet "philosopher" G. Aleksandrov in which "cannibalistic American imperialism" is charged with having devised a "master plan" to exterminate 700,000,000 persons in Europe and Asia by means of atomic war, germ warfare and disease.

Even George Kennan, U. S. Ambassador to Moscow, is reported to be disturbed by the intensity and venom with which the Russians are now attacking the United States.

Kennan is known as an advocate of a policy of "peaceful co-existence" with Communist Russia. But his experiences during the few weeks he has been in Moscow have shocked him profoundly, it is reported. He ostentatiously discussed the Kremlin-sponsored "hate America" campaign with Secretary of State Dean Acheson when they recently met in London.

"My life saved by Kaiser's safety front seat"

Says Donald E. Holmes, of Coldwater, Mich.

Here's what happened:

Swerving desperately to avoid another car, Mr. Holmes crashed his '52 Kaiser head-on into a pole on U.S. Highway 112, Allen, Michigan, last May 27.

Yet he walked away from the wreck—unharmful! Why? Because the Kaiser's instrument panel was padded...no protruding knobs to injure him...and the windshield pushed outward in one piece! "In any other car I might have been killed!" Mr. Holmes writes.

This extra safety and extra value explain why thousands have switched to Kaiser. The car with the world's safest front seat! With America's lowest center of gravity! Largest glass area in any sedan! Easiest steering! Handsomest "hardtop" styling at regular sedan prices! Mobilgas economy winner—24.6 miles a gallon!

Drive a Kaiser, and you'll agree...it's your safest buy today!

Russian propaganda is having on the growing neutralist forces in Europe. They fear that the Russians "hate America" campaign will succeed where their periodic "peace" offenses failed—to split the NATO powers and weaken the European Defense Community.

At the same time, having recently suffered a series of setbacks in the West, the Cominform has now put forward a new line calling for a "Popular Front" of all those opposed to "American imperialism" and the "rearmament of Germany."

Moscow will now use the threat of a rearmament of Germany to stampede leftists, neutralists and common Europeans who fear war into the Communist camp, and thus help in crippling the West's defensive measures.

With Eastern Germany firmly in their grip, the Russians are clearly prepared to employ all means—including terror and sabotage—to prevent the German Federal Republic from ratifying the Bonn and Paris agreements.

U. S. Helicopters Aid Alaskan Survey

ANCHORAGE, Alaska—(AP)— Helicopters are making possible the continent's biggest scale photography and surveying job.

The project will be carried out this summer for the third straight year in Alaska by the 30th Engineer Base Topographic Battalion from San Francisco, a unique unit of the Corps of Engineers.

Survey data is combined with aerial photos to make large scale layouts of militarily important areas in the vast territory. Last year they surveyed 24,000 square miles in 81 days. Thirty-six helicopters are scheduled for the 1952 project.
